French-Spanish Border Has Been Closed by Franco, Dispatches Say

Generalissimo Is Reported Reinforcing Frontier
Garrisons

FRANCE RECEIVES U. S. PROPOSAL ON SITUATION

Note Is Said To Suggest
French-British-American Action

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Frontier dispatches tonight said Generalissimo Francisco Franco had closed the French-Spanish border and moved up troop reinforcements along the 300-mile frontier. At the same time the French government received a United States proposal on the Spanish situation.

The United States note was reported to contain a suggestion for a joint French-British-American declaration, and preliminary indications were that it would be agreeable to the French government, with some modifications.

Border reports, not officially confirmed, said an estimated 1,500 Moors had arrived at garrison points on the Spanish side of the frontier and that all leaves had been cancelled for regular guard who had closed the border this morning.

The French government had announced yesterday that it would close the frontier Friday, severing all economic relations between the two countries.

Case May Go to UNO

Informed quarters said the French had decided to hail Spain before the United Nations Security Council
at its next meeting, probably March 21, on charges of endangering world
peace and security.

In London, Security Council President C. R. D. Freitas Valle, of Brazil, said he would call an immediate meeting of the council "if and when" he received a request.

France's decision to take the Spanish case before the UNO, members of the Constituent Assembly said, was disclosed by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault while reviewing the Spanish situation before the foreign affairs commission of the assembly.

The foreign minister also was reported to have said he had dispatched messages to Great Britain and the United States requesting their support in calling Spain questionable before the Security Council.

Informed quarters said the French cabinet had no knowledge of the United States plan yesterday when it drafted its own notes to the British and American governments.

U. S. Proposals Not Revealed

In Washington, the State department said the United States had sent "certain American views" on the Spanish situation to Britain and France, but declined to indicate what was proposed.

Washington diplomatic sources,
which asked anonymity, said the United States had proposed a French-British-American declaration that:

The three governments deplore the
All three might be disposed to grant recognition to a broadly representative interim Spanish government which might take over if Franco were ousted;

The three governments reaffirm,
however, that they will not interfere in the domestic affairs of Spain,
and that any action to oust Franco must come from the Spanish people themselves.

German Armaments
Maker More Powerful Than Krupp Is Seized

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 27.
—United States authorities announced today the seizure of a phantom German armaments manufacturer they termed "the greatest single power behind the Nazi war machine," with an industrial empire expanded by seized foreign plants.

Flick, 62, head of a $400,000,000
combine, and declared he possessed
"the greatest economic power of any single industrialist in Nazi Germany."

Flick, starting in 1933, built up greater controls than those held by the Krupp munitions family in three wars from 1870, but worked so anonymously that he was virtually unknown both abroad and in Germany, an American investigator said.

Flick is held in Preussag prison directors of his combine also are in custody.

House Spends Three Hours Studying Finger-Shaking

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The House today spent three hours studying finger-shaking.

That's right, finger-shaking. John Rankin, of Mississippi, red with anger, shook his finger at Adolph Sabath, of Illinois, red with anger, shook his finger at John Rankin.

These two were the principal
and Helen Gahagan Douglas (D-Calif.) had tangled briefly after
Mrs. Douglas had criticized the House Committee on Un-American

Activities, of which Rankin is a charter member.

A moment later Rankin almost came to blows with Democratic leader McCormack, of Massachusetts. McCormack got himself into the argument by trying to shhh Rankin, and Rankin wasn't going to be shhhed.

Warmed up by now, Rankin was ready for Sabath, another of his Democratic colleagues.

The issue, briefly, was this:
Rankin didn't like a statement published by Sabath in the Congressional Record February 19. He said this statement unfairly criticized the Committee on Un-American Activities.

He particularly was peeved about the heading, "The Un-American Committee," which he said Sabath wrote.

Given an hour to make his point, Rankin declared that the heading and portions of the article inserted by Sabath, followed the "Communist party line."

Sabath, a small but squarely built man who will be 80 next April 4, was on his feet most of the time, protesting that Rankin was way off the beam.

Man Detained in Chicago
Admits He's Former
City Comptroller

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Connecticut State Police Commissioner Edward Hickey said tonight a man detained by Chicago police admitted he is Daniel J. Leary, former Waterbury, Conn., city comptroller who vanished five years ago after being convicted of conspiracy to defraud the City of Waterbury of $1,000,000.

Hickey identified the man as Leary and quoted him as saying:
"What's the use? I'm Leary, and you know who I am. I'll talk with you tomorrow morning."

Hickey was a witness in Leary's
trial in Connecticut March, 1941.
He told newsmen: "This is Daniel
J. Leary of Waterbury."

Had Denied He Was Leary
Leary was detained by police yesterday when he was pointed out on a Chicago street by a former Connecticut resident. He at first denied
he was Leary and said he was James Donovan, 52, a religious goods salesman of Chicago.

Hickey said Leary was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor of Connecticut in 1935 and 1937.

The police commissioner's identification of Leary was confirmed by Detective Sgt. A. L. Pestore and Connecticut State Trooper Edward
J. Dooley, who accompanied him to Chicago from Connecticut, and by James T. Galvin, Waterbury newspaperman.

Leary greeted Galvin with "Hello,
Jimmy." Galvin added that Leary
"looks the same except for a mustache."

Says "Health Was Bad"
Detective Charles Karnick, of Chicago police, said Leary as saying he fled Waterbury in March,
1941, and went to New York, then
Florida, and later Chicago. He said his business in Chicago recently and planned to leave two days ago because his "health was bad," the detective said.

Karnick added that Leary, after admitting his identity, said his health was poor and "to go to prison
now means a death sentence for me."

He declined to say whether he would waive extradition at a hearing tomorrow. Hickey said "everything is ready," after he was asked whether Leary would be returned to Connecticut.

Hoover's acceptance in telegrams

Mr. Hoover earlier gave support to the president's appeal for food saving to cope with famine abroad and expressed belief it was possible to meet the need by voluntary action.

"Our national self respect and
our duties as human beings demand that we do all possible to stop the spread of famine," Mr. Truman's telegram said.

"I have directed the agencies of government to do everything possible to this end. But government alone is not enough."

The meeting will be under the auspices of Secretary of Commerce

Anderson and Assistant Secretary of State Clayton representing Secretary Byrnes. Charles G. Ross,
White House press secretary, said
that a cabinet subcommittee which has been studying the situation, recommended the voluntary campaign.

In the meantime, a well-fed world in the future was forecast by Secretary Anderson.

science have been developed to the Revolt of 2,500 Indian Army Troops Is Reported

BOMBAY, Feb. 27 (AP)—A telephone report to Nagpur in Central India said 2,500 Indian troops had revolted today at Jabalpur, 550 miles northeast of Bombay, marching out of their barracks, and that revolvers and bayonets had been used in attempts to stop them.

The message to Nagpur, provincial capital 150 miles south of Jubalpur, said the troops paraded through the streets carrying Congress and Moslem League flags.

The situation was reported tense with increasing numbers of men leaving their barracks.

The troops, Sepoys of the Indian signal corps and Indian electrical and mechanical corps, demonstrated in Jabalpur's streets in sympathy with last week's strike of Indian seamen, and to protest a court-martial sentence on a captain had served in the Japanese army, the national army, the dispatch added.

Wherry Won't Consider
Becoming GOP Chairman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—
Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, said today he could not consider becoming chairman of the Republican National Committee because that would involve his resigning from the Senate.

"I am not a candidate," he said in a statement. "I have not been asked and, if I were asked to serve and accepted, I would have to resign as United States senator. I want my fellow Nebraskans and friends over the country to know that I have no intention of resigning from the United States Senate."

Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York,
has announced he will resign the Republican chairmanship at a spe-

mittee here April 1.

Pauley Sought Funds Illegally, President of Air Line Declares

STELLE AND BRADLEY SHAKE HANDS

TO THE CITIZENS OF CUMBERLAND:

I am appealing for your support of my candidacy for Mayor on the basis of my experience in the City Government.

I served as Commissioner of Streets and Public Property from 1920 to 1922, as Finance Commissioner from 1922 to 1926, and in the same capacity from 1942 to 1946. These ten years as the City Commissioner have given me an intimate knowledge of the City's affairs, and this experience should be of great value in meeting the important problems with which the City will be confronted during the next two years.

Our streets should be improved and we should have better recreational facilities for the children of the City. We need an auxiliary water line from Lake Gordon and an overhead bridge in the business section to relieve traffic conditions.

The smoke nuisance should be abated as far as possible, the airport completed, and an adequate flood control plan adopted and put into effect.

The housing shortage should be remedied promptly so that our returning veterans will be able to secure homes at reasonable prices, and every effort should be made to aid these veterans in securing permanent and satisfactory employment.

The accomplishment of such a program requires money and I would be less than honest if I did not say that it cannot be carried through unless the money is secured. However Federal funds will be available for part of it, and since such funds will be spent somewhere, Cumberland should get its share of them. I pledge myself to see that we do secure our share.

I also pledge myself to obtain as large a share as possible of State funds, which there is every reason to believe will be re-allocated as a result of the studies of the Commission recently appointed by Governor O'Connor to consider this problem.

And finally, I pledge myself to use the strictest economy in the conduct of the City's affairs so that the City tax rate can be held as low as is possible, consistent with furnishing essential services and paying adequate wages to the employees of the City.

The problems which confront the City are serious and I have no magic solution for them, but I do have the benefit of ten years' experience in the City Government and if elected I promise to use that experience in giving a sane and businesslike administration of its affairs.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM E. McDONALD

Income Tax Primer Interest and Certain Taxes Are Allowable Deductions on Return

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—A considerable number of taxpayers find that their biggest opportunity to reduce taxable income is in deductions for the payment of interest and of certain taxes.

Remember, however, that you list deductions on your return only if you use the long form 1040. If you use the short form 1040 or the withholding receipt as a return, the tax tables automatically provide a total deduction amounting to about ten per cent of your income.

Persons with incomes of $5,000 or more who use the long form may take a $500 allowance for deductions instead of listing their deductions. Of course, if your allowable deductions amount to $500 or less, it is to your advantage to take the regular $500 allowance.

Most interest payments are allowable deductions. You may deduct money paid as interest on a home mortgage, on a personal loan, and on installment purchases. In order that the debt be secured by a lien or mortgage, but there must be a legal obligation on the taxpayer to pay the interest.

Some taxes may be deducted; others may not be deducted. You may deduct: State income tax, most property taxes, auto license taxes, state gasoline taxes in all states except Alabama, California, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Utah and Wyoming.

You may not deduct: Federal income taxes, federal gasoline taxes, federal taxes on furs, jewelry, toilet articles, cigars, liquor, auto tires and the like.

Federal employment (Social Security) taxes may be deducted by an employer, such taxes withheld from the wages of an employee may not be deducted by the employee.

You may not deduct federal taxes on theater admissions, transportation, telephone and telegraph service, and safe deposit boxes unless they are incurred in carrying on a trade or business or are attributable to rents and royalties.

If your home is destroyed or damaged by fire, flood or storm, you may deduct the loss provided it is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. If the insurance is not sufficient to cover the loss, you may deduct the excess of the loss over the amount of the insurance.

Money contributed to non-profit charitable, religious, educational and scientific organizations is deductible. You may deduct contributions to a church, the Red Cross, YMCA, a community fund and homes for the aged and needy. A gift of money to an individual is not deductible.

A taxpayer may deduct that portion of medical and dental expenses which exceed five per cent of his income. Suppose your income was $4,000 last year and you paid $300 doctor and hospital bills. Five per cent of $4,000, or $200, would not be deductible but the other $100 of your medical expenses would be deductible.

Marine Recruiting Office Inspected

An inspection of the local marine corps recruiting office, established here early this month, was made Tuesday by Major Harry W. Taylor, and Major Kenneth B. Pickle, of Baltimore, in charge of recruiting in this area.

Major Pickle complimented S-Sgt. Murrel W. Brainerd, local recruiter for the appearance of his office, the excellent job of placing posters and signs publicizing the corps about the city, the high number of recruits and quality of recruits he has enrolled, and upon the general results attained by the station here.

The two marine officers came here by plane from Washington, D. C., yesterday, stopping in Hagerstown for a similar inspection. The plane, a North American advance trainer, was flown by Major Taylor, aviation recruiter. Major Taylor said the flight was made in about an hour from Washington, not counting the time they stopped in Hagerstown.

Flying conditions this time of the year over the mountains are not too difficult, Taylor said, although he had some difficulty locating the airport because of fog and smoke over the city and vicinity. He was quite complimentary about the airport and landing facilities here and expressed the opinion that the field will accommodate "just about anything that wants to come down or take off." He expressed some surprise when told the airport is in West Virginia.

Camouflaged
Inflation

WHAT this newspaper has observed with regard to the unreasonable, arbitrary and unsound system of maximum price formulas of the Office of Price Administration is corroborated by Benjamin H. Namm, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Speaking before the national meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in New York city this week, Namm declared that this system is keeping production hog-tied and depriving the people of the goods they want.

This newspaper has cited an example given by Henry Ford II showing how unjust price ceiling regulations have throttled production. Namm cites another in kind: One of the leading makers of cotton work socks was refused a modest price increase by the OPA to cover his rising costs. He put eighty per cent of his machinery in grease, and on the remaining twenty per cent made work socks since these could be distributed at a satisfactory price. As a result, his profit on twenty per cent operation—and twenty per cent employment—was greater than that on full production of his standard line.

Such a policy, Namm declared, is dangerously inflationary in effect because it is stimulating the production of second-rate merchandise at excessive prices, while standard and badly-needed goods cannot be found at any price. Thus our economic machinery is being dislocated. This substitution of inferior merchandise for standard grades is what Namm called "camouflaged inflation," and he does not believe the disguise is very good but is like the fabulous behavior of the ostrich.

It must not be taken that retailers seek to end price control immediately. On the contrary, the association headed by Namm has adopted a resolution which states that the aim sought is not ending of price control at once but such reasonable amendments as will serve to increase production because sustained all-out production of goods will speedily make price control unnecessary.

And, as Namm declares, we must have production to defeat inflation, the most important need in the country today being to get full production going. He believes we must rely upon Congress for the framing of reasonable and realistic standards on the entire problem of production and prices and he is dead right about that.

Why Not a Ceiling
For Butter Fat?

THE BUTTER SITUATION appears to be getting no better fast. Down sharply from fifty million pounds at the first of the year, the national supply has dropped to less than fifteen million pounds, which D. K. Howe, president of the American Butter Institute, says is "dangerously low."

Not only that, but the supply situation is daily becoming worse each month. November was off twenty per cent, December off twenty-three per cent and January was off twenty-seven per cent.

The three months shown are light milk producing months, but the federal Agriculture department Bureau of Economics estimates a lower milk production for 1946 with the spread between supply and demand expected to become larger.

One study by the bureau has indicated that so long as the consumer has the money to pay for it, the consumption of whole milk in 1946 is going to be greater than in previous years. Because the creameries supply the whole milk order, the first into butter naturally will be less in 1946 than in previous years.

Then, too, the matter of price comes into the picture. There is a ceiling on butter fat, but there is no ceiling on butter. The price of butter fat, quite naturally, buys what butter fat he can at a price which will give him a margin of profit, and the remainder goes to those who use the butter fat in manufacturing where no ceiling is involved.

Now, if the lack of a ceiling on sweet cream is what is causing the drop in butter production, why is it that one is not established in order to stop the diversion of butter fat into other products than butter? As Howe says, something ought to be done about this immediately.

War Veterans and Their Insurance

LOUIS W. DeYoung in a "Saturday Evening Post" article has directed attention to the deplorable rapid rate at which war veterans are dropping their National Service Life Insurance. If it continues, he stated, a hundred billion dollars worth of protection and comfort for their families may be deliberately thrown away.

"If the insurance cost much to keep in civilian life, that would be a different story," DeYoung said. "But it's dirt cheap. The veteran can keep it in force for less than twenty-five cents a day; in many cases for the price of his cigarettes. There are two main reasons why veterans don't. This insurance has some drawbacks which may be remedied and are far outweighed by the virtues. And many of the veterans—who weren't given much of an explanation—don't realize what a good thing they have."

"Millions of policies already have lapsed," he says further. "But Congress has made it possible to reinstate them easily, cheaply and with a minimum of red tape. To reinstate term insurance the veteran pays two monthly premiums—one for the thirty-one days of grace in which he was covered with no paying. If the policy lapsed less than three months ago or the veteran was discharged within the last six months, he can get back in if he is in a good physical condition as when the policy lapsed."

Even with longer lapses, it is still possible for the veteran to reinstate his policy. These provisions are not very well known, but the word is being spread by the National Association of Life Underwriters and other organizations.

War veterans who have allowed their policies to lapse would do well to give the subject some sober second thought. This insurance may not appeal to some by reason of its maturity features, which differ somewhat from ordinary life insurance, yet it is government backed and offers a broad coverage at low premium rates. Many who have given up protection in kind have wished that they had not done so, and the war veterans may live to see the day they will similarly hold regrets.

Fear and Its Relation To Good Health

A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association

FEAR is responsible for the loss of many a life. Sometimes it is fear of knowing the truth which prevents people from seeking medical advice when they first become ill. Sometimes it is a haunting fear that a disease has been inherited and there is nothing that can be done about it.

Both kinds of fears have caused needless suffering to victims of tuberculosis. Yet fear never cured a person of tuberculosis, whereas knowledge points the way to recovery.

Tuberculosis kills approximately 55,000 persons in this country a year. But tuberculosis is not inherited and it can be cured. There will be fewer deaths from the disease when people cease to be afraid to learn the truth.

There was a time, not so many years ago, when so little was known about tuberculosis that there was justification for excessive fear of the disease. Today, however, we know that tuberculosis can be cured, particularly if it is detected in its early stages. We know, too, that it can be found in the early stage through chest X-ray examinations.

Furthermore, we know that tuberculosis is caused by a germ, the tubercle bacillus, and that this germ is transmitted from one person to another. People are not born with tuberculosis. They catch it from someone who has the disease.

The myth that tuberculosis is inherited probably arose from the fact that often different members of the same family had the disease. Unfortunately, it is true that frequently a whole family will contract the disease. This does not prove, however, that they were born with it. The fact is that one member of the family caught the disease and gave it to the others. Living close together, using dishes that had not been sterilized, it was too easy for father to transmit the disease to son, for brother to pass it on to sister.

When people rid themselves of the fear that they have inherited a disease, they will realize it is not inevitable that they suffer needlessly and die from it. They will take advantage of the knowledge which medical science has placed at their disposal and look forward to cure rather than backward at the shadow of fear.

Arguments in behalf of the British loan are now being put up into the miscellaneous class. William L. Clayton, assistant secretary of state, and Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) now say the purpose of it is to prevent another world war. If it will positively do that, everybody should be for it.

New York city residents are breathing sighs of relief over removal of the transit strike threat. They have been having so much practice doing that of late that an epidemic of sore throats is about due.

You have to take the bad with the good in most things, it seems. Peoria, Ill., reports that burglars are using walkie-talkie equipment to avoid detection with some success.

BOUNDARIES

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Recently I met a very great man, David Fairchild, now of Florida. Few men know trees and flowers as does this noble human being. I bought his book called "The World Was My Garden." No boundary for him—the entire earth is his garden. Someone asked him if he put the word "was" in the title, since he still lived. His reply was that he wanted his book to live on long after he would be gone! I should say, also, that his memory will hold no boundary.

There is comfort for us all in the words of Maurice Maeterlinck: "Death can take me whenever it likes. I ask no reprieve!" Death, to him, as he has many times expressed himself to others, is but "another glorious adventure." To man's life aspiration there should be no boundary, then why do we die? To faith there is no boundary!

When the late Frank Munsey died, Bob Davis, who for years was editor of his many magazines, and later a columnist for his New York Sun, happened to be in a distant country. Writing New York for instructions, as to his future movements, Davis received this reply from his new boss: "From now on consider the entire world as though it were a local story." No boundaries as to where he should go, or from what angle he should write.

The late Wendell Willkie put new meaning to the hope of mankind when he wrote that book of his entitled "One World." He made the world feel that there should be no boundary to the spread of freedom, nor to the aspiration of a single human being seeking justice and a decent chance for individual happiness.

There are no boundaries to knowledge. Every age extends it. Every book enlarges it. Every mind adds something to it. Only recently the genius of man has "contacted" the Moon! And who is to say when science or invention is to have its last word? And who can put upon a chart the limits of the Universe? Or who would put a limit upon man's freedom of thought, or seek to gag his expression?

Many are the ones who have gone to their graves refusing to recant their honest beliefs, thus demonstrating the limitless boundary of one's faith in his ideas.

Terminal Pay in Army, Termed a Morale
Wrecker, Needs Revision, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—If this country is to have a sound army, one of the first essentials is to wipe out gross injustices between officers and enlisted men.

One of the worst of these is so-called terminal pay. Here is a little orientation on this morale wrecker.

An ordinary G. I. gets $300 mustering-out pay if he has served overseas, $200 if he hasn't. This takes him to $180 quarters allowance (if married), plus $84 subsistence pay (if married), plus the regular $300 mustering-out pay.

This totals $984, against $300 paid the overseas enlisted man. Furthermore, the latter's leave doesn't accumulate as does an officer's. If he is in combat for an extended period and can't take advantage of his fifteen days' furlough every six months, then he is out of luck. His leave doesn't accumulate. It's lost and gone forever.

Not so the officer. His leave accumulates and he is paid in cash for it.

New York Strike

If Michael Quill, head of the same double-headed job in Washington that he has in New York, would face federal prosecution, he would be a member of the New York City Council, but simultaneously is attempting to bargain with the city council on behalf of his union. Under federal statutes, no congressman can represent the government and at the same time take a case against the government. One late senator, Ralph Burton of Kansas, was clapped into jail for this. Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia was recommended for criminal prosecution by Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge, but a kindly Attorney General (Francis Biddle) failed to prosecute. In New York,

TO QUIT GOP POST

AT A MEETING in Washington, D. C., Herbert Brownell, Jr. (above) told about thirty Republican congressional leaders that he will resign as chairman of the Republican National Committee on April 1. He said his entire time to devote to his law practice in New York city.

Quill considers himself a law unto himself. . . . Mayor O'Dwyer's representative many left-wing labor groups, some accused of following the Communist party line. Mayor O'Dwyer himself is a boom friend of Quill, who not only helped elect him but went to the West coast twice (one trip under an assumed name) to urge O'Dwyer to run. O'Dwyer later given to Donald Nelson as head of the Independent Motion Picture Producers Association. Texas natural gas men are about the only people looking ahead regarding atomic energy. They are willing to sell gas cheap now because they figure atomic energy will put them out of business later. . . . John L. Lewis isn't looking that ahead. His coal wages, now second highest in the country, if increased further are likely to convert more factories from coal to oil and natural gas.

Railroad Strike

President Truman last week declined to meet with representatives of operating railroad brotherhoods, whose wage-increase demands are now being arbitrated in Chicago.

There was no publicity about it, but Truman sent a polite telegram to Bert M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employee department of the AFL, and Harry W. Fraser, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, stating that it wouldn't be proper for him to meet with them.

Truman pointed out that it might appear he was taking sides if he talked to Jewell and Fraser during the arbitration proceedings, unless he met with management spokesmen also. He informed the brotherhood chiefs that while their dispute was under negotiation, he would not meet with them.

However, the president did grant a special conference last week to E. F. Whitney, chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and Alvord Johnston, chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers. They have refused to go along with other railway labor leaders in the negotiation of wage demands which threaten to paralyze rail transportation and throw more than 1,000,000 railway workers out of employment.

Whitney and Johnston bluntly informed Truman that their union would not agree to the arbitration formula approved by the other railroad brotherhoods, because it did not include negotiation of all disputes. It merely applied to wage demands.

Since the entire railroad industry will be paralyzed if the trainmen, represented by Whitney, and the engineers, represented by Johnston, strike, this leaves the president only one alternative — to appoint an emergency board to settle the demands of these two unions.

Big Three Portrait

Winston Churchill has been patiently posing for his portrait at the Miami Surf Club. Painted by Douglas Chander, it will portray the Big Three at the Yalta conference. Chander had finished the rough outline of Roosevelt before he died, but still has to put in the details of the portrait. The portrait may be placed in the central hall of the White House.

of us in cementing American international relations, at the same time protecting the interests of the United States. . . . Among other things, Mrs. Roosevelt supported Senator Connally, of Texas, in defending the American Federation of Labor. . . . Krug a Good Man For Interior Post,
Lawrence Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In appointing J. A. Krug to be secretary of the interior, President Truman has made one of the best possible selections. If Mr. Truman will follow this standard in making future appointments, he will enhance materially the prestige of his administration.

For "Cap" Krug, as he is known in Washington, is one of the ablest public officials the national capital has ever seen. Not only has he administrative skill, but he is fair-minded in making policies. He is known as a friend of public power programs, but he is not the kind to allow such policy leanings to influence him in the slightest in administering rules or regulations set by congress.

Mr. Krug, in other words, is a progressive and a liberal and has been classed as a New Dealer. But his fairness of approach clearly distinguishes him from some of the types who used to occupy public authority under the cloak of public authority carried on private grudges and feuds.

When the War Production Board was torn with strife and there was all kinds of intrigue in the organization, "Cap" Krug came along and rapidly put the WPB in order, eliminating the trouble-makers and the plots and keeping attention focussed on the important tasks of war production and the administration of rules and regulations.

The secretary of the interior in the governmental set-up of today has much to say about public power projects, especially in connection with the distribution of electric power out of the great dams of the Northwest. As an engineer and general manager of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Mr. Krug became familiar with all phases of the controversy between public utilities and governmental interests. One can feel in momentum, it will be only because Mr. Krug has not camouflaged facts or figures to make a point in a crusade but because he will have demonstrated persuasively what areas or projects can best be handled by government and what categories of power allocation can be handled by private interests.

Mr. Truman has secured the services of a man who can accomplish much for his administration in the Far West. The department of the interior is one of the agencies of government that interests the West, because of the problems of natural resources that have often arisen to plague Washington administrations. What the office needs, of course, is a man of integrity and vision as well as a good administrator. What it needs also is someone with modesty who can stay on the job and worry about the problems of government instead of comments on his ego.

The appointment is significant in many other respects. It means that President Truman, who made the Democratic party's real purpose in public affairs must be to accept conservatism or stand-patting but to follow a liberal and progressive path. He knows also that mere radicalism or left-wing crusading is as bad in the other direction as any other form of reactionary thinking. Mr. Krug represents that group of liberals who would like to improve the entire quality and calibre of the public service.

Officials Believe
Home Breadbasket
Will Be Sufficient

BY CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Despite President Truman's request that Americans share food with hungry Europeans, agriculture department officials feel no alarm for the home front breadbasket — the home behave. Supplies will be ample to meet domestic needs and the nutritional values will be just as high as the present 3,300 calories.

The big question mark is the public's behavior. Consumers have plenty of money to buy scarce foods, as they had throughout the war. But now rationing controls are off. Consequently, when predicting the farm experts keep their fingers crossed, hoping that Mr. Truman's appeal will be taken to heart.

Unless this is done, they warn, and if the public should dash to the stores to stock up on meat, fats, sugar, butter, canned fruits and rice, supplies will not be enough to go around. They add that no one is going to suffer. There will be "favorable quantities" of fresh and frozen fish, citrus fruits, fresh and processed vegetables, potatoes, canned fruit juices, poultry and dairy products other than butter.

Big Price Control Battle

A bill probably will be passed but not until April or May. And though the administration wants a straight one-year extension, the signs are that it will not get it.

It will almost certainly have to accept some concessions in current law, for the forces opposing the measure are powerful. They will seek to limit application of controls and to limit the duration.

They will fight to limit extension to six months and controls to about thirty-five basic commodities on which the Labor department bases its cost of living index. Despite Mr. Truman's many warnings against inflation, Congress intends to take its time and will face a whirlwind fight.

Filibustering Records

More about filibusters: The lengthiest one-man filibuster of recent days occurred in 1938, when Senator Allen Ellender, a former Huey Long lieutenant, spoke against an anti-lynching bill for six days. However, the Senate did not hold night sessions, and Ellender merely spoke four or five hours daily.

A filibuster in days gone by was something to prepare for with great care. Stacks of reading material were piled high on the senator's desk. All the necessary preparations were made in advance.

In 1914, the late Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, spoke for twelve hours, ten minutes, in a house coat and bedroom slippers, against the Rivers and Harbors bill.

Filibusters have been known to wreck the health of participants. Washington, after recovering from his speech of thirteen hours, fifteen minutes against the Ship Registry bill in 1915. During the same filibuster, Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, spoke for eleven hours, thirty-five minutes.

Speeches of eight or nine hours were commonplace years ago. Senator Cie Crawford of South Dakota, spoke nine hours, five minutes when he conducted a two-day filibuster against seating William Lorimer, of Illinois, while Senator Wesley Jones contributed approximately eight hours to the same filibuster.

Old timers at Capitol Hill fear their likes will never be seen again. A filibuster by "Bob" La Follette or Huey Long once packed the Senate galleries. Today, a mere handful wanders in, sits a few minutes, and then bored by the proceedings, walks out.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The clothing shortage is really getting bad out here. The only way you can get a suit these days is to run into a lawyer's car.

I went into a clothing store and said, "I'd like to see something with a herringbone." And the clerk brought out a herring!

I won't say the clothing shortage is desperate, but the other night a guy showed up at the Mocambo wearing a white tie and blanket.

And the picture companies don't have enough material for costumes. . . . But they're getting around it. They took one of Edward Arnold's old vests and made eight suits for Sinatra.

And one company didn't have enough material for a costume for Betty Grable, and they were afraid they'd get complaints. But they finally got enough material for Betty's costume . . . and they got complaints. (But they ignored me).

And they're even skipping on the material in the sweaters those bobby sox girls wear. I saw one yesterday with a sweater that barely covered her ankles.

And W. C. Fields had some very bad luck. He managed to get four monthly polka-dot shirts. But then one morning he got up and breathed into his bureau drawer and all the polka-dots got bloodshot.

100 Beds Are Set Aside For Vets Administration

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 27 (P) — One hundred beds have been set aside for the Veterans Administration at the Newton D. Baker General Hospital for the treatment of war veterans, Col. E. L. Cook, has been advised.

Colonel Cook, commanding officer of the army hospital, said the allocation order came from the surgeon general.

He added that veterans could qualify for use of the beds by applying to VA offices where the cases will be processed.

Patients without prior approval of the VA will be admitted only in emergencies.

—The New York Stock Exchange, the world's largest, was founded in 1817.

FHA Representative Is Coming Here Soon

A representative of the Federal Housing Administration will come to Cumberland within a few days to discuss the local housing situation with Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Smith wrote E. Lester Muller, manager of the FHA state office in Baltimore, at the request of chamber directors in an effort to have a representative of the agency visit Cumberland at least once a week to aid in obtaining priorities for building materials for veterans who wish to erect homes.

—Home oil burners were first used in the United States in 1894.

Trustees Are Named To Sell Former Home Of Ira Rosenbaum

The Second National Bank of Cumberland and Benjamin M. Kamen's, Cumberland, Tuesday were appointed trustees to sell the Washington street home of the late Ira Rosenbaum. The appointment was made by the judges of the circuit court and the trustees have filed a joint fidelity bond for $25,000 with the court.

Under the terms of Mr. Rosenbaum's will, his widow was given the right to occupy the family home until her death or remarriage. Mrs. Rosenbaum has not exercised this right and the house at 726 Washington street has been occupied by Isaac Hirsch.

By the court decree, the trustees were given the discretion to sell the Rosenbaum home at either public or private sale. The approval of the price and terms of sale must be obtained from the court. The court did not set any minimum price for the property.

"RIVERSIDES didn't come on my car; I CHOSE THEM"

"... And I See Millions of Others Are Switching to Riversides!"

That's right! All over America, more and more people are putting Riversides on their cars. And it's important to remember that each and every one of those 40 million Riverside tires was a "replacement" sale... the careful choice of a person like yourself! (That couldn't have happened 40 million times without some very good reasons!) Think what this means to you. When you buy Riversides, you're buying a tire that millions of people before you have picked in preference to the brands that come on new cars... in preference to any other well-known make of tire! Yes! You get more for your money with Riversides... more wear... more safety, (Riversides are now even stronger than our pre-war tires!). Come into Wards today and "talk-it-over" with Wards tire man.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOVE IS THE SUM OF YOUR CHOICES

She's made a devastating discovery. She finds that she doesn't love her war marriage husband as much as she thought she did!

That's enough to black out the stars for any 18-year-old bride—and many an older one too. Of course, they'd only known each other a month and were really married only two weeks, but she should be able to know whether love is the real thing after days and days of ecstasy like that. They'd been so happy it makes her shiver a little even yet, remembering. Yet

now that he's back from overseas, he seems all changed. So plain... so commonplace... just like any one of a thousand men. Sometimes she finds herself even snapping at him and a terror comes over her. Is this really the end of everything—of love-of romance-of all their moonlight dreams?

A young wife waking suddenly to discover that love isn't what she thought it would be—does that seem a trivial matter to you? It isn't trivial. It has always been one of life's toughest problems and in these post war years it is one of our cruelest and most widespread tragedies.

The trouble of course isn't with love itself. It's with our stupid misunderstanding of the nature of love.

LOVE ISN'T SOMETHING THAT HAPPENS—LOVE IS SOMETHING WE BUILD.

Love is something we build by countless determined choices until, at long and loyal last, such choices become a benign habit.

What sort of choices? Simple, natural choices as to how we'll feel about this one whose trail we have chosen to share. There he stands. Yesterday he seemed to be more than human—so wise and tender, so brave and true and sensitive. Yesterday the beloved walked in the golden mist that lifted him above the earth, but today... Why, he's just a common person! He's just a common person and he does common things. He says the same things other people say. He's afraid of the same silly things. How can this be? How can a demigod change so suddenly from his superman status and become just a plain person?

The answer is—he hasn't changed. Our viewpoint has changed—that's all. Yesterday, because Lois's war hero was new and novel, something outside her accustomed world, she saw him through rapturous eyes. She wanted to see him that way. She chose to see him that way. She chose to see only that which was most fascinating and exciting. If he said something which might have seemed ordinary in another man, she gave it secret, magical meanings because those were the meanings she wished to find in his words. Her heart turned toward him and she saw only the best.

But today he is no longer novel or new or even an outstanding hero. They've gone through the great mystery together. They've drifted along the stars. And now they're down to earth and now it's up to the bewildered bride, as it is to every bewildered lover, to decide which she will choose to find in the man she has married. Will she choose to see him as a commonplace mortal with uninspired thoughts and trivial gestures or will she look upon him with that special focus which only the eyes of love can know—will she see that nothing is quite ordinary if it says it... that there is special merit and skill in the little things he does?

WILL SHE REMEMBER THAT SHE TOOK HIM FOR "BETTER OR WORSE" AND WILL SHE DELIBERATELY CHOOSE TO FIND THE BETTER WHENEVER SHE IS FACED WITH THE PROBLEM OF HIS LIFE?

For that is the way love comes and the only way it can come—by deliberate choices... by determining.

ed effort. Infatuation always wears off. Passion always cools. And love always changes. But it can always change for the better if we will have it so. Wineow Street Wife Is Given Divorce From Ex-Sailor

Chief Judge William A. Huster Tuesday awarded an absolute divorce to Mrs. Rosalie Lagratta, 25, 126 Wineow street, from James Lagratta, Mrs. LaGratta, represented by Estel C. Kelley, was also given the custody of their two children, aged 4 and 2, and LaGratta was ordered to pay $40 a month for their support, through the Juvenile court.

They were married in March, 1938, and lived together until last September, the wife testified. She also declared that LaGratta, before joining the navy, had given some of her personal effects including her radio, engagement ring, bracelets and necklaces to another woman. The wife said she got the radio back but the jewelry was never recovered.

After this episode, the wife said she "made up" with her husband, but he later deserted her, after saying he was going out to buy some clothing. Edward J. Ryan was counsel for the husband.

Mrs. Rachell Edna Pownall yesterday filed suit for divorce from Robert Lee Pownall, who lives at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad YMCA. The wife, represented by Morgan C. Harris, also asks for the custody of their son, one year old.

Mrs. Pownall said they were married September 27, 1943, in this city and her husband is employed by a packing firm here. Chief Judge Huster ordered Pownall to pay his wife $7.50 a week alimony, pending a decision in the case.

Robert H. Bender filed suit for a divorce from Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Bender, Wright's Crossing. His attorney, Harold E. Naughton, said they were married June 10, 1937, in Frostburg and voluntarily agreed to separate January 28, 1938.

Grant E. Zollner, also represented by Naughton, filed suit for a divorce from Mrs. Kayline Rita Zollner.

said to be a non-resident of Maryland. They were married July 10, 1943, in Phoenix City, Ala., and lived together until September 4 of that year.

Another case was docketed by filing by Louise H. Geddes, represented by Edward J. Ryan, against John R. Geddes, represented by Julius E. Schindler.

Two Wills Are Probated In Orphans Court

A daughter, Maud Ann Houck, receives the bulk of the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Houck, Mt. Savage, who died last March 27, according to the terms of Mrs.

Houck's will which was admitted to probate Tuesday. Three sons and another daughter received one dollar each. Drawn June 28, 1938, the will was witnessed by Ida M. Morgan and Rachel A. Morgan.

Under the terms of the will of Mrs. Eugenie Hartley, who died last October 12, a son, Clarence C. Hartley, receives the home place consisting of more than 200 acres in the Little Orleans section. Furniture and clothing was left to her other children, Nora, Ethel, Clara and Thomas Hartley. The will was drawn October 1, 1936, and witnessed by Zora Whitfield, Olney Whitfield and Charles E. Davis.

—Next summer Russian citizens will receive compensation for vacations foregone since 1941.

Shyness, a Painful Disease, Is Nearly Always Curable

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am 31 years old, and I'm lonesome. I would like to talk to girls and find a steady girl to go with, but something in me keeps me back. I don't know what's wrong. Maybe you could tell me.

F. J. G.

What's wrong with you, F. J. G., is a bad case of shyness. And while it's a painful disease, it's nearly always curable if you go at it the right way.

But you've got to work at it yourself. Nobody can wave a wand and pass a miracle and suddenly make you gay and talkative and popular without any trouble on your own part.

First thing for you to do is to look around and see what opportunities there are to meet nice girls. What organizations are there in your town that you could join? If there's a Y. M. C. A., join that and get acquainted with the other men who go there. Swim with them, bowl with them, work out in the gym with them, and presently you'll be sufficiently friendly with them so that they'll be inviting you to their homes where you'll meet their sisters and friends. Also, the "Y" undoubtedly gives parties to which girls are invited.

How about a lodge? That's a good place to make friends. Lodges give parties occasionally, too, to which members bring women relatives and friends. Do you go to any church regularly? If not, maybe you'd better begin! Almost every church has different clubs and other organized groups that bring men and women together.

But whatever you join, take an active part in it. Let them know you'll be a worker in the group. And as you become familiar with its programs and friendly with its members, the first thing you know, you'll forget about being shy, and start having a good time. After that, you'll be surprised how easy everything gets!

More Leeway Now

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am a girl of 16, a junior in high school.

There is a very nice respectable boy that I would like to invite to a hayride, but don't know how to go about it, as I have never been introduced to him.

Would it be wrong for me to ask him? If not, how should I go about it?

F. M.

If this boy is one of your school-mates, isn't there someone you both know who could introduce you? Or if he's just one of the boys in town, perhaps you have a mutual friend who could bring about a meeting. Do your mothers, by any chance, know each other?

If none of the conventional ways of making his acquaintance seem to be possible, I think it would be quite all right for you to write him a little note, telling him that a group of you are going on a hayride and would like him to join you. After all, there's much more leeway in such things these days than there used to be, and it's not considered out of the way for a girl to be the one to issue an invitation to a boy occasionally.

She Spends Lonely Evenings
Dear Miss Fairfax:
I have been married twelve years and have two little girls, the oldest 9 and the other 6.

For a long time we have been a very happy family, but about a year ago things began to be different and my husband seemed to lose interest in doing things with his family. He just wanted to go out by himself, bowl with his friends, he said, and now lately he doesn't tell me where he goes. It is very lonesome just staying home by myself with the children most nights. Miss

Fairfax, and I am very unhappy. What should I do?

UNHAPPY WIFE

You don't say whether or not you have ever tried to talk this over with your husband. If you were happy together for so much of the time that you have been married, those years must have built up between you a certain amount of real understanding and confidence. All that can't have disappeared at once.

So don't give this thing a chance to build itself up any longer before making an opportunity to try and find out what is wrong. Since you and your husband were once so close, perhaps, if you are very tactful, you can get him to talk frankly with you. Try not to let your talk turn into a quarrel that will only make the situation up more. Perhaps you'll find it's just that you've wanted to stay home with the children too many nights instead of going out for good times with him. At any rate, if you can discover definitely what is at the bottom of the trouble, you'll be in a better position to know what you can do about it.

RESULTS FOR THE YEAR

The high level of business that prevailed during the war years continued during 1945, the volume being the third largest in the Company's history, and exceeded only in 1943 and 1944.

Costs of operation constantly increased due to higher costs of labor and higher costs of materials. Operating revenues of the Company declined $73,562,501, caused by the cessation of hostilities and labor disturbances in some of the larger industries. Expenses of operation increased $47,628,686, including $41,395,479 to cover the unamortized portion of the cost of emergency facilities required for the prosecution of the war. The Net Income in 1945 was $49,008,238 compared with $64,720,431 in 1944, a decrease of $15,712,193. Notwithstanding this decrease in Net Income, dividends paid in 1945 were maintained at the same rate paid in 1944, 1943 and 1942—5% ($2.50 per share).

TRANSPORTATION FOR THE FUTURE

The country's vast system of airways, highways and waterways will be expanded at the Government's expense, while all of the improvements for the railroads will be privately financed. The problems with which the railroads are faced as a result of the war should have intelligent consideration by state and national authorities wherever regulation restricts the opportunity for the rails to move forward.

The railroads want no subsidy; they want equity. They are a heavily taxed industry competing with subsidized industries, and all they ask is equality of opportunity.

As the railroads planned to meet the requirements of war, so they are planning for the opportunities of peace, and given a fair and equitable chance they will furnish the public the best in freight and passenger service.

TAXES

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company during the war years paid in taxes and disbursed for improvements and repairs, to meet the war load a sum of money equal to the entire debt upon the property. A national railroad system without any debt would place the railroads in the same position as their competitors, as the Government furnishes a large amount of the capital for the waterways, the highways and the airways.

There was much deferred maintenance during the war period. The Interstate Commerce Commission gave the railroads authority to create reserves to meet this situation. The taxation system, however, would not permit them to take any tax benefit on reserves so created, and money that should have been set aside for this purpose was taxed the same as other income. Deferred maintenance, therefore, be paid out of post-war earnings, and the more the post-war earnings are siphoned off through taxation, the less will be the money the railroads can spend on rehabilitation and improvements.

taxes of $12,741,141, and Railroad Retirement taxes of $13,802,891, aggregated $34,340,013.

LEGISLATION

To clarify the intent of Congress with respect to carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, and to resolve any regulatory conflicts with the Antitrust laws, Congressman Bulwinkle of North Carolina introduced a bill, H. R. 2536, known as the Bulwinkle Bill, which gives such carriers protection from the Antitrust laws only to the extent that their acts and procedures have obtained prior Commission approval. The Bill was endorsed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and numerous state commissions, and by public and commercial bodies and by shippers and producers generally. It was passed by the House by a large majority and now awaits action by the Senate.

To insure consistent policies with respect to legislation, and the future efficiency of the transportation system, the Bill is worthy of the earnest support of the people, who have recently seen the vital importance to the nation of the ability of the carriers to work together in the public interest.

FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES

The railroads have done the war job with practically no increase in freight rates and a relatively small increase in passenger fares—2/10 of a cent per mile in basic coach fares and 3/10 of a cent per mile in fares good in Pullman cars.

The railroads were granted a 5% increase in freight rates, in May, 1942, which however was suspended until six months after the war, but, as the situation appears to be developing, it will be necessary for the railroads to petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase greater than that under suspension, in order to meet greatly increased expenses and avoid deficit operation.

Large expenditures must be made for the rehabilitation of the railroads. All of these necessities will require money in large amounts. Money requires credit, and the credit of the Company is very much affected by the rates at which the business is carried.

REDUCTION OF FUNDED DEBT

Maturities during the year amounted to $11,807,880, which together with other debt retired and canceled amounting to $9,382,000, made a total reduction of $21,189,880 in 1945. This reduction was offset, in part, by the issuance of $16,290,000 Equipment Trust Obligations.

In addition, as a result of refinancing of bonds and purchases from the public, other debt of System Companies was reduced $5,380,087.

The debt of the System in the hands of the public was, therefore, reduced $10,279,967 in 1945, making a net reduction of $148,670,000 during the last six years.

REFINANCING OF BONDS

The Company continued its policy of taking advantage of the prevailing money rates to refinance certain of its bonds, as well as those of its affiliated companies, and was able to make some very advantageous refundings, from which it will ultimately realize approximately $47,000,000 of savings.

EQUIPMENT

The ending of the war made it possible to acquire materials for construction of passenger cars, and there are under construction one hundred and twelve modern passenger train cars, of lightweight construction, of which ninety are being built in Altoona Shops, and twenty-two by an outside builder. They are the finest type ever to be built for the Company, and are especially designed for safety.

Since the close of the year, orders have been placed with outside builders for the construction of two hundred and fourteen passenger train cars of which one hundred and fifty-nine are to be sleepers, for the improvement of the post-war passenger service on the railroad.

Twenty-five of the largest and most modern steam freight locomotives and tenders were placed in service during the year. Orders were placed for fifty additional steam passenger locomotives and tenders and part of the order was delivered. One Diesel electric passenger locomotive was delivered during the year, and ten more were ordered.

On December 18, 1945, the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania approved the sale by Pullman Incorporated to a Buying Group of Railroads of all the outstanding stock of its wholly owned subsidiary, The Pullman Company, which owns and services the sleeping cars.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, as one of the railroads in the Buying Group, has purchased from The Pullman Company 142 lightweight sleeping cars assigned for service on its lines, as well as 123 regularly assigned parlor cars.

RESEARCH

The Company, always seeking through research in science and technology, through discovery and invention, to be in the forefront of progressive improvement in railroad travel and shipping, has continued to move forward during the year. Through its own research staff, through the research laboratories of the Association of American Railroads, and cooperatively with equipment manufacturers, the Company is alert in utilizing the utmost improvements in the field of electronics, metallurgy, chemistry and engineering, which can be applied to increase the efficiency, comfort and safety of rail transportation.

EMPLOYEES

As we come out of the war and enter the peace, it is a pleasure to acknowledge the efficiency and loyalty of the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad and their devotion to duty.

From the low ebb of the depression in 1938, with a depleted force, the Company moved into the heavy traffic of the war, met the peak load of its history, both passenger and freight, and is moving into the reconversion era. The Management wishes to acknowledge the splendid way the employees served their Country and the Company by meeting successfully every emergency they were called upon to face.

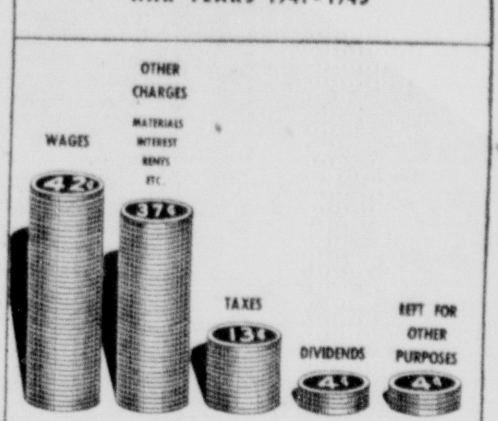

STOCKHOLDERS

The growth and expansion of the Company during the one hundred years of its existence is reflected in the number of shareholders, the shares outstanding and their distribution. When the Company was chartered there were 2,635 subscribers to the original issue of 60,257 shares of stock of the par value of $50 each, being an average holding of 22.87 shares by each subscriber.

On December 31, 1945, there were 214,995 holders of stock, and the number of shares outstanding had grown to 13,167,754. The average holding was 61.24 shares.

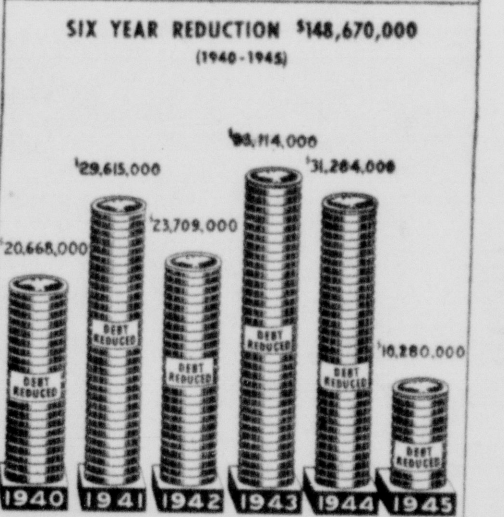

M. W. CLEMENT, President.

WHERE THE DOLLAR WENT WAR YEARS 1941-1945

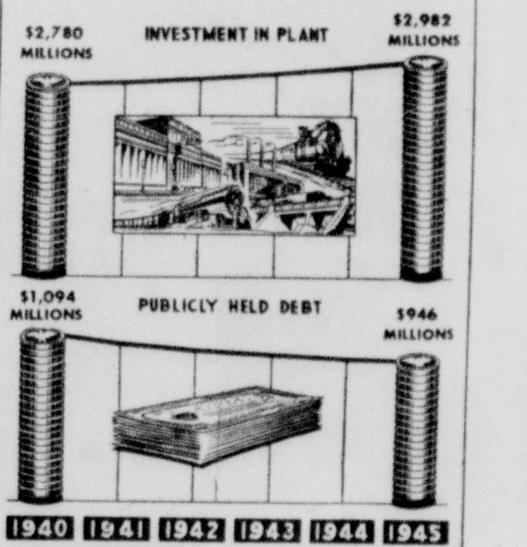

After providing for operating expenses, interest, rentals and other necessary charges, over half the remaining income went to taxes.

NET REDUCTION IN SYSTEM DEBT IN HANDS OF PUBLIC

There has been a steady and substantial reduction of funded debt in the hands of the public, as this graph shows. Over the last six years The Pennsylvania Railroad System debt has been reduced $148,670,000.

INCREASING EQUITY OF STOCKHOLDERS PRR SYSTEM

This chart shows how the property investment in the railroad system has steadily grown while publicly held debt has decreased. The money put back into the railroad not only has increased the stockholder's equity but has brought the total investment to a point where it is equal to more than $17,000 per employee.

A BRIEF HISTORY of the railroad's growth and development over the hundred years since its founding April 13, 1846, is included in the Annual Report sent to stockholders. Copies of it may be had by writing Office of the Secretary, Broad Street Station Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Secretary's Play Will Be Offered On Radio Network

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, February 27 (AP)—The second installment on the "Carrington Playhouse," Mutual's new series which is supposed to give new writers a change, is "Wait for Me," written by Adele Horton, a 22-year-old secretary in a New York bank. It's the girl's first script and she's not going to leave the bank over it. "I'm afraid I couldn't write enough to eat regularly," she candidly announced when Mrs. Carrington bought her script. The show is Thursday night.

Jerry Colonna, who has been in the stogie class for years, has blossomed out in the last few months as a guest star. Bing Crosby will have him on "The Music Hall" at 9 Thursday night. Frank Morgan won't be on the show.

Dinah Shore has Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard as guests on her 8:30 NBC session.

Five of the speakers on "America's Town Meeting" Thursday are: Dr. Karl Bigelow, professor of education, Teachers college, Columbia university; Dr. William H. Lemmel, superintendent of schools in Wilmington, Del.; Maynard M. Borling, former trustee of the Scottish Board of Education; Mrs. Eleanor Gimbel, of United Parents Organization; and Mrs. Mary Titus, health educator of Cammack Junior high school, Huntington, Va.

Beer Production Faces Sharp Cut, Brewers Say

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The nation will have less beer to drink in 1946 than at any period during the war if the government reduces this year's grain quota for use in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages by an indicated thirty per cent, leading brewers in the New York area predicted today.

The industry is deeply concerned over the present situation. An official of one of the larger breweries said: "We had expected the green light beginning next month when our new production quarter for malt used in beer starts, x x x."

"A seasonal upswing in consumption generally gets under way in March and reaches its peak around August just when the full impact of the lower grain quotas would hit the industry the hardest."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lewis F. Tasker, who passed away one year ago, February 27.

Memories grip my heart,
Making tears drop start,
There is a vacant seat,
No more silver hair—no Father.

Hush, my heart be still,
God is with us still,
Up in glory bright,
Shining as a light—we see Father.

AND FAMILY.

In loving memory of Daniel Lipson, who died 4 years ago, February 28, 1941.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near,
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of passing without farewell.

Our love cannot tell how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say,
God alone knows how we miss him,
In our loneliness home today.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his parents,
MR. AND MRS. M. J. LIPSON,

2-28-11-NT

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends and relatives, who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement in the death of Mrs. Anna E. Pryle. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.

French-Spanish Border Has Been Closed by Franco, Dispatches Say

ed Reinforcing Frontier
Garrisons

FRANCE RECEIVES U. S. PROPOSAL ON SITUATION

Note Is Said To Suggest
French-British-American Action

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Frontier dispatches tonight said Generalissimo
Francisco Franco had closed the French-Spanish border and moved
up troop reinforcements along the 300-mile frontier. At the same time
the French government received a United States proposal on the Spanish situation.

The United States note was reported to contain a suggestion for joint French-British-American action, and preliminary indications were that it would be agreeable to the French government, with some modifications.

Border reports, not officially confirmed, said an estimated 150,000 Moorish troops had been moved to the Spanish side of the frontier and that all leaves had been cancelled for regular guard who had closed the border this morning.

The French government had announced yesterday that it would close the frontier Friday, severing
all economic relations between the two countries.

Case May Go to UNO

Informed quarters said the French had decided to call Spain before the United Nations Security Council
at its next meeting, probably March 21, on charges of endangering world
peace and security.

In London, Security Council President C. G. D. D'Almeida, while reviewing the Spanish situation before the foreign affairs commission of the assembly.

The foreign minister also was reported to have said he had dispatched messages to Great Britain
and the United States, requesting their support in calling Spain before the Security Council.

Informed quarters said the French
cabinet had no knowledge of the United States plan yesterday when
it drafted its own notes to the British and American governments.

U. S. Proposals Not Revealed

In Washington, the State department said the United States had sent "certain American views" on the Spanish situation to Britain and France, but declined to indicate
what was proposed.

Washington diplomatic sources,
which asked anonymity, said the
French-British-American declaration that:

"The three governments thoroughly disapprove of Franco and deplore the continued existence of his regime;

All three might be disposed to grant recognition to a broadly representative interim Spanish government which might take over if Franco were ousted;

The three governments reaffirm,
however, that they will not interfere in the domestic affairs of Spain,
and that any action to oust Franco
must come from the Spanish people themselves.

German Armaments Maker More Powerful Than Krupp Is Seized

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 27.
(AP)—United States authorities announced today the secrets of a phantom German armaments maker they termed "the greatest single power behind the Nazi war machine" had been seized.

They identified him as Friedrich
Flick, 62, head of a $400,000,000
combine, and declared he possessed
"the greatest economic power of
any single industrialist in Nazi Germany."

Flick, starting in 1933, built up greater controls than those held by the Krupp munitions family in
three wars from 1870, but worked so anonymously that he was virtually unknown both abroad and in Germany, an American investigator
said.

Flick is held in Preussag prison near here for questioning, and directors of his combine also are
in custody.

House Spends Three Hours Studying Finger-Shaking

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The House today spent three hours
studying finger-shaking.

That's right, finger-shaking.

John Rankin, of Mississippi, red with anger, shook his finger at Adolph Sabath.

Adolph Sabath, of Illinois, red with anger, shook his finger at John Rankin.

These two were the principal
and Helen Gahagan Douglas (D-Calif.) had tangled briefly after
Mrs. Douglas had criticized the

Son Is Born To English
Bride Who Flew To U. S.
To Join "Other Man"

Action Follows Breakup of Pickets' Parade at Philadelphia

DUBUQUE, Ia., Feb. 27 (AP)—
A son was born three weeks ago to Mrs. Jean Carbone, the 19-year-old English bride who flew to this country last November to join Capt. Darrell Beschen, Dubuque, air force hero. Instead of her husband, Harold Carbone, Rochester, N. Y., the Telegraph-Herald said today.

Previously both Mrs. Carbone and Beschen, who is away from Dubuque on an army assignment, said he was the father.

Although the family of Capt.
Beschen, in whose home Jean has been living since her arrival in Dubuque, took elaborate precautions to keep the birth secret, the newspaper said the mother of the captain admitted today that the birth had occurred in the home about three weeks ago.

West Virginia's Legislature Will Meet on March 18

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 27
(AP)—Gov. Meadows issued today a call for a special session of the legislature at 11 a. m. Monday, March 18, to consider a six-point program which he said may be disposed of "within a few days."

In an accompanying message to members of the Senate and House of Delegates, the governor said:

"This extraordinary session may well offer an opportunity whereby we may (construct) an imperishable foundation upon which can be built the framework of an educational system without peer in any of the states of the union."

Two of the six items in the formal call deal with the recommendations of a committee of experts headed by Dr. George D. Strayer, who surveyed the state's educational system for a special legislative committee named by the 1945 session.

The other items propose release of expenditures made by the 1945 legislature for the state's colleges; additional appropriations to provide facilities and personnel needed at the colleges because of increased veterans enrollment; enactment of legislation giving state supervision over hospital service and medical service plans; and provision for appropriations to carry out these programs.

They identified him as Friedrich
Flick, 62, head of a $400,000,000
combine, and declared he possessed
"the greatest economic power of
any single industrialist in Nazi Germany."

Firm U. S. Foreign Policy Is Needed, Vandenberg Says

Michigan Republican Says
It's Best Way To Win
Soviet Respect

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—
Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg declared today that America's foreign policy must be as frank and firm as Russia's to meet a "desperate need for mutual understanding."

Permanent peace and the future of the United Nations are at stake, the Michigan Republican said.

Vandenberg addressed the Senate, not as a member, but as an American delegate to the just-concluded London conference at which he said, the United Nations in thirty-seven days "turned a blue print into a going concern x x x. An ideal into a reality."

As the "supreme conundrum of our time," the Senator listed this question:

"What is Russia up to now?"
He did not profess to have the answer. But he did have positive ideas on America's foreign policy, particularly its approach to Russia.

He said he had a deep conviction that the only way to permanent peace and accord between the two great world powers lay in re-establishing a habit of "saying what we mean and meaning every word we say."

"I have the feeling," Vandenberg added, "it is the best way to win Soviet respect and Soviet trust. And both are indispensable to peace."

And, without defining it, Vandenberg asserted that "there is a line beyond which compromise cannot go."

UNO achieved much in London, the senator said. He marked up two lines on the credit than on the debit side of the ledger. Yet he saw "hazards" ahead. Making UNO work, he said, challenges Russia and the United States above all other nations.

"It would be entirely futile," Vandenberg amplified, "to blink the fact that two great, rival ideologies —democracy in the west and communism in the east—here find themselves face to face with the desperate need for mutual understanding in finding common ground upon which to build peace."

In the final analysis this means that the two greatest spokesmen for these rival ideologies—Soviet Russia and the United States—find themselves face to face with this same need for mutual understanding both in and out of the United Nations."

He said he believed it might be said that the future of the United Nations is wrapped up in this equation.

He said a limited number of controls must be continued because war-created maladjustments still exist, the American mass production system "by its very nature" takes time to shift from a war to peacetime basis, and industrial strikes have lengthened the transition period.

The report said that although the strike situation has "increased inflationary pressures by widening the gap between goods and demand," there were "no significant shifts in overall price levels" during January.

The report noted, however, that in the critical field of building materials, the price of lumber now is fifty-five per cent above the 1936 level and seventy-five per cent above 1939.

Wherry Won't Consider
Becoming GOP Chairman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—
Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, said today he would not consider becoming chairman of the Republican National Committee because that would involve his resigning from
the Senate.

"I am not a candidate," he said
in a statement. "I have not been asked and, if I were, I would have to resign as United States senator. I want my fellow Nebraskans and
friends over the country to know that I have no intention of resign-

Herbert Brownell, Jr., New York,
has announced he will resign the Republican chairmanship at a special meeting of the national committee here April 1.

Man Detained in Chicago
Admits He's Former
City Comptroller

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (AP)—Connecticut State Police Commissioner Edward Hickey said tonight a man detained by Chicago police admitted he is Daniel J. Leary, former Waterbury, Conn., city comptroller
who vanished five years ago after being convicted of conspiracy to defraud the City of Waterbury of $100,000.

Hickey identified the man as Leary and quoted him as saying:
"What's the use? I'm Leary, and you know who I am. I'll talk with you tomorrow morning."

Hickey was a witness in Leary's
trial in Connecticut March, 1941.
He told newsmen: "This is Daniel
J. Leary of Waterbury."

Had Denied He Was Leary
Leary was detained by police yesterday when he was pointed out on a Chicago street by a former Connecticut resident. He at first denied
he was Leary and said he was James Donovan, 52, a religious goods salesman of Chicago.

Hickey said Leary was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor of Connecticut in 1935 and 1937.

The police commissioner's identification of Leary was confirmed by Detective Sgt. A. L. Pestore and Connecticut State Trooper Edward
J. Dooley, who accompanied him to
James T. Galvin, Waterbury news-
paperman.

Leary greeted Galvin with "Hello,
Jimmy." Galvin added that Leary
"looks the same except for a mustache."

Says "Health Was Bad"
Detective Charles Karnick, of Chicago police, quoted Leary as saying he fled Waterbury in March,
1941, and went to New York, then
Florida, and later Chicago. He said
his business in Chicago recently and planned to leave two days ago because his "health was bad," the
detective said.

Karnick added that Leary, after admitting his identity, said his health was poor and "to go to prison
now means a death sentence for me."

He declined to say whether he would waive extradition at a hearing tomorrow. Hickey said "everything is ready," after he was asked whether Leary would be returned to Connecticut.

He invited the former president, the outstanding food expert after World War I, to help map the campaign at a White House conference Friday. Mr. Truman announced Mr.
Hoover's acceptance in telegrams inviting thirteen other "public spirited citizens" to the meeting.

Mr. Hoover earlier gave support
to the president's appeal for food savings to cope with famine abroad
and expressed belief it was possible
to meet the need by voluntary action.

"Our national self respect and
our duties as human beings demand
that we do all possible to stop the spread of famine," Mr. Truman's telegram said.

"I have directed the agencies of government to do everything possible to this end. But government alone is not enough."

The meeting will be under the auspices of Secretary of Commerce
Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture
Anderson and Assistant Secretary
of State Clayton, representing Secretary Byrnes. Charles G. Ross,
White House press secretary, said
that a cabinet subcommittee which has been studying the situation, recommended the voluntary campaign.

In the meantime, a well-fed
world in the future was forecast by Secretary Anderson.

"Agricultural and nutritional science have been developed to the point where it is now possible to banish hunger from the earth," the secretary said.

The troops, Sepoys of the Indian

ted in Jabalpur's streets in sympathy with last week's strike of Indian seamen, and to protest a court-martial sentence on a captain who had served in the Japanese-sponsored Indian national army, the dispatch added.

Case against Top Nazis Is Rested By Prosecution

Tribunal Denies Motion To Summon Churchill as Witness

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

TO THE CITIZENS OF CUMBERLAND:

I am appealing for your support of my candidacy for Mayor on the basis of my experience in the City Government.

I served as Commissioner of Streets and Public Property from 1920 to 1922, as Finance Commissioner from 1922 to 1926, and in the same capacity from 1942 to 1946. These ten years as City Commissioner have given me an intimate knowledge of the City's affairs, and this experience should be of great value in meeting the important problems with which the City will be confronted during the next two years.

Our streets should be improved and we should have better recreational facilities for the children of the City. We need an auxiliary water line from Lake Gordon and an overhead bridge in the business section to relieve traffic conditions.

The smoke nuisance should be abated as far as possible, the airport completed, and an adequate flood control plan adopted and put into effect.

The housing shortage should be remedied promptly so that our returning veterans will be able to secure homes at reasonable prices, and every effort should be made to aid these veterans in securing permanent and satisfactory employment.

The accomplishment of such a program requires money and I would be less than honest if I did not say that it cannot be carried through unless the money is secured. However Federal funds will be available for part of it, and since such funds will be spent somewhere, Cumberland should get its share of them. I pledge myself to see that we do secure our share.

I also pledge myself to obtain as large a share as possible of State funds, which there is every reason to believe will be re-allocated as a result of the studies of the Commission recently appointed by Governor O'Connor to consider this problem.

And finally, I pledge myself to use the strictest economy in the conduct of the City's affairs so that the City tax rate can be held as low as possible, consistent with furnishing essential services and paying adequate wages to the employees of the City.

The problems which confront the City are serious and I have no magic solution for them, but I do have the benefit of ten years' experience in the City Government and if elected I promise to use that experience in giving a sane and businesslike administration of its affairs.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM E. McDONALD

Income Tax Primer

Interest and Certain Taxes Are Allowable Deductions on Return

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—A considerable number of taxpayers find that their biggest opportunity to reduce taxable income is in deductions for the payment of interest and of certain taxes.

Remember, however, that you list deductions on your return only if you use the long form 1040. If you use the short form 1040 or the withholding receipt as a return, the tax tables automatically provide a total deduction amounting to about ten per cent of your income.

Persons with incomes of $5,000 or more who use the long form may take a $500 allowance for deductions instead of listing their deductions. Of course, if your allowable deductions amount to $500 or less, it is to your advantage to take the regular $500 allowance.

Most interest payments are allowable deductions. You may deduct money paid as interest on a home mortgage, or a personal loan, and on installment purchases. In order to be deductible, it is not necessary that the debt be secured by a lien or mortgage, but there must be a legal obligation on the taxpayer to pay the interest.

Some taxes may be deducted; others may not be deducted. You may deduct: State income tax, most property taxes, auto license taxes, state gasoline taxes in all states except Alabama, California, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Utah and Wyoming.

You may not deduct: Federal income taxes, federal gasoline taxes, federal taxes on fur, jewelry, toilet articles, cigars, liquor, auto tires and the like.

Federal employment (Social Security) taxes may be deducted by an employer. Such taxes withheld from the wages of an employee may not be deducted by the employee. You may not deduct federal taxes on theater admissions, transportation, telephone and telegraph service, and safe deposit boxes unless they are incurred in carrying on a trade or business or are attributable to rents and royalties.

If your home is destroyed or damaged by fire, flood or storm, you may deduct the loss provided it is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. If the insurance is not sufficient to cover the loss, you may deduct the excess of the loss over the amount of the insurance.

Money contributed to non-profit charitable, religious, educational and scientific organizations is deductible. You may deduct contributions to a church, the Red Cross, YMCA, a community fund and homes for the aged and needy. A gift of money to an individual is not deductible.

A taxpayer may deduct that portion of medical and dental expenses which exceed five per cent of his income. Suppose your income was $4,000 last year and you paid $300 doctor and hospital bills. Five per cent of $4,000, or $200, would not be deductible but the other $100 of your medical expenses would be deductible.

Marine Recruiting Office Inspected

An inspection of the local marine corps recruiting office, established here early this month, was made Tuesday by Major Harry W. Taylor, and Major Kenneth B. Pickle, of Baltimore, in charge of recruiting in this area.

Major Pickle complimented S-Sgt. Murrel W. Brainerd, local recruiter for the appearance of his office, the excellent job of placing posters and signs publicizing the corps about the city, the high number of recruits and quality of recruits he has enrolled, and upon the general results attained by the station here.

The two marine officers came here by plane from Washington, D. C. yesterday, stopping in Hagerstown for a similar inspection. The plane was flown by Major Taylor, aviation recruiter. Major Taylor said the flight was made in about an hour from Washington, not counting the time they stopped in Hagerstown.

Flying conditions this time of the year over the mountains are not too difficult, Taylor said, although he had some difficulty locating the airport because of fog and smoke over the city and vicinity. He was quite complimentary about the airport and landing facilities here and expressed the opinion that the field will accommodate "just about anything that wants to come down or take off." He expressed some surprise when told the airport is in West Virginia.

This was the first time, Major

Pickle said, that an inspection of a marine corps recruiting station had been made here with the inspector traveling by air.

Camouflaged Inflation

WHAT this newspaper has observed with regard to the unreasonable, arbitrary and unsound system of maximum price formulas of the Office of Price Administration is corroborated by Benjamin H. Namm, president of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Speaking before the national marketing conference of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in New York city this week, Namm declared that this system is keeping production hog-tied and depriving the people of the goods they want.

This newspaper has cited an example given by Henry Ford showing how unjust price ceiling regulations have throttled production. Namm cites another in kind: One of the leading makers of cotton work socks was refused a modest price increase by the OPA to cover his rising costs. He put eighty per cent of his machinery in grease, and on the remaining twenty per cent made woolen socks since these could be distributed at a satisfactory price. As a result, his profit on twenty per cent employment was greater than that on full production of his standard line.

Such a policy, Namm declared, is dangerously inflationary in effect because it is stimulating the production of second-rate merchandise at excessive prices, while standard and badly-needed goods cannot be found at any price. Thus our economic machinery is being dislocated. This substitution of inferior merchandise for standard goods is what Namm calls "camouflaged inflation," and he doesn't believe the disguise is very good but is like the fabulous behavior of the ostrich. It must not be taken that retailers seek to end price control immediately. On the contrary, the association headed by Namm has adopted a resolution to that effect, which states that the aim sought is not ending of price control immediately, but such reasonable amendments as will serve to increase production because sustained all-out production of goods will speedily make price control unnecessary.

And, as Namm declares, we must have production to defeat inflation, the most important need in the country today being to get full production going. He believes we have reached the point where we must rely upon Congress for the framing of more reasonable and realistic standards on the entire problem of production and prices, and he is dead right about that.

Why Not a Ceiling For Butter Fat?

THE BUTTER SITUATION appears to be getting no better fast. Down sharply from fifty million pounds at the first of the year, the national supply has dropped to less than fifteen million pounds, which D. K. Howe, president of the American Butter Institute, says is "dangerously low."

Not only that, but the supply situation is daily becoming worse each month. November was off twenty-three per cent and January was off twenty-seven per cent.

The three months shown are light milk producing months, but the federal Agriculture department Bureau of Economics estimates a lower milk production for 1946 with the spread between supply and demand expected to become larger.

One study by a bureau has indicated that so long as the consumer has the money to pay for it, the consumption of whole milk in 1946 is going to be greater than in previous years. Because the creameries supply their whole milk orders first the amount of butter fat left to go into butter naturally will be less in 1946 than in previous years.

Then too, the matter of price comes into the picture. There is a ceiling on butter, but there is no ceiling on butter fat. The butter manufacturer, quite naturally, buys what butter fat he can at a price which will give him a margin of profit, and the remainder goes to those who use the butter fat in manufacturing where no ceiling is involved.

Now, if the lack of a ceiling on sweet cream is what is causing the drop in butter production, why is it that one is not established in order to stop the diversion of butter fat into other products than butter? As Howe says, something ought to be done about this immediately.

War Veterans and Their Insurance

LOUIS W. DeYoung in a "Saturday Evening Post" article has directed attention to the deplorable rapid rate at which war veterans are dropping their National Service Life Insurance. If it continues, he stated, a hundred billion dollars worth of protection and comfort for their families may be deliberately thrown away.

"If the insurance cost much to keep in civilian life, that would be a different story," DeYoung said. "But it's dirt cheap. The veteran can keep it for less than twenty-five cents a day; in many cases for the price of his cigarettes. There are two main reasons why veterans don't. This insurance has some drawbacks which may be remedied and are far outweighed by the virtues. And many of the veterans—who weren't given much of an explanation—don't realize what a good thing they have."

"Millions of policies already have lapsed," he says further. "But Congress has made it possible to reinstate them easily, cheaply and with a minimum of red tape. To reinstate term insurance the veteran pays only two monthly premiums—one for the month ahead and one for the thirty-one days of grace in which he was covered without paying. If the policy lapsed less than three months ago of the veteran was discharged within the last six months, he can get back in if he is in 'good physical condition' as when the policy lapsed.

Even with longer lapses, it is still possible for the veteran to reinstate his policy. These provisions are not very well known, but the word is being spread by the National Association of Life Underwriters and other organizations.

War veterans who have allowed their policies to lapse would do well to give the subject some sober second thought. This insurance may not appeal to some by reason of its maturity features, which differ somewhat from ordinary life insurance, yet it is government backed and offers a broad coverage at low premium rates. Many who have given up protection in kind have wished that they had not done so, and the war veterans may live to see the day they will similarly hold regrets.

Fear and Its Relation To Good Health

A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association

FEAR is responsible for the loss of many a life. Sometimes it is fear of knowing the truth which causes people from seeking medical advice when they first become ill. Sometimes it is a haunting fear that a disease has been inherited and there is nothing that can be done about it.

Tuberculosis kills approximately 55,000 persons in this country a year. But tuberculosis is not inherited and it can be cured. There will be fewer deaths from the disease when people cease to be afraid to learn the truth.

There was a time, not so many years ago, when so little was known about tuberculosis that there was justification for excessive fear of the disease. Today, however, we know that tuberculosis can be cured, particularly if it is detected in its early stages. We know, too, that it can be found in the early stage through chest X-ray examinations.

Furthermore, we know that tuberculosis is caused by a germ, the tubercle bacillus, and that this germ is transmitted from one person to another. People are not born with tuberculosis. They catch it from some one who has the disease.

The myth that tuberculosis is inherited probably arose from the fact that often different members of the same family had the disease. Unfortunately, it is not true that frequently a whole family will contract the disease. This does not prove, however, that they were born with it. The fact is that one member of the family caught the disease and gave it to the others. Living close together, using dishes that had not been sterilized, it was only too easy for father to transmit the disease to son, for brother to pass it on to sister.

When people rid themselves of the fear that they have inherited a disease, they will realize it is not inevitable that they suffer needlessly and die from it. They will take advantage of the knowledge which medical science has placed at their disposal and look forward to cure rather than backward at the shadow of fear.

Arguments in behalf of the British loan are now being put into the miscellaneous class. William L. Clayton, assistant secretary of state, and Senator Pepper (D-Pa.) now say the purpose of it is to prevent another world war. If it will positively do that, everybody should be for it.

You have to take the bad with the good in most things, it seems. Peoria, Ill., reports that burglars there have been taking advantage of the epidemic of sore throats to avoid detection with some success.

BOUNDARIES

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Recently I met a very great man, David Fairchild, now of Florida. Few men know trees and flowers as does this noble human being. I bought his book called "The World Was My Garden." No boundary for him—the entire earth is his garden. Someone asked why he put the word "was" in the title, since he still lived. His reply was that he wanted his book to live on long after he would be gone. I should say, also, that his memory will hold no boundary.

There is comfort for us all in the words of Maurice Maeterlinck: "Death can take me whenever it likes. I ask no reprieve!" Death, to him, as he has many times expressed himself to others, is but "another glorious adventure." To man's life aspiration there should be no boundary, then, why to death? To faith there is no boundary!

When the late Frank Munsey died, Bob Davis, who for years was editor of his many magazines, and later a columnist for his New York Sun, happened to be in a distant country. Wiring New York for instructions, as to his future movements, Davis received this reply from his new boss: "From now on consider the entire world as though it were a local story." No boundaries as to where he should go, or from what angle he should write. The late Woodville Wilkie put new meaning to the hope of making when he wrote that book of his entitled "One World." He made the world feel that there should be no boundary to the spread of Freedom, nor to the aspiring of a single human being, seeking justice and a decent chance for individual happiness.

There are no boundaries to knowledge. Every eye extends it. Every book enlarges it. Every mind adds something to it. Only recently the genius of man has "contacted" the Moon! And who is to say when science or invention is to have its last word? And who can put upon a chart the limits of the Universe? Or who would put a limit upon man's freedom of thought, or seek to gag his expression? Many are the ones who have gone to their graves refusing to recant their honest beliefs, thus demonstrating the limitless boundary of one's faith in his ideas.

Terminal Pay in Army, Termed a Morale Wrecker, Needs Revision, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—If this country is to have a sound army, one of the first essentials is to wipe out gross injustices between officers and enlisted men.

One of the worst of these is so-called terminal pay. Here is a little orientation on this morale wrecker. An ordinary G. I. gets $300 mustering-out pay if he has served overseas, $200 if he hasn't. This applies to all G. I.s regardless of their length of service in or out of combat. The officers have a more lucrative arrangement.

Take an army captain who has been overseas two years. He is automatically entitled to two months of terminal leave before discharge. This means he gets two months of base pay ($400) plus $200 longevity pay, plus $180 quarters allowance (if married), plus $84 subsistence pay (if married), plus the regular $300 mustering-out pay.

This totals $984, against $300 paid the overseas enlisted man. Furthermore, the latter's leave doesn't accumulate as does an officer's. If he is in combat for an extended period and can't take advantage of his fifteen days' furlough every six months, then he is out of luck. His leave doesn't accumulate. It's lost and gone forever.

Not so the officer. His leave accumulates and he is paid in cash for it. A navy lieutenant senior grade, equivalent in rank to an army captain, gets the same amount of terminal pay, provided he has been out of the country for two years, and so on up the line.

New York Strike

If Michael Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, had the same double-headed job in Washington that he has in New York, he would face federal prosecution. Quill is a member of the New York City Council, but simultaneously is attempting to bargain with the city council on behalf of his union. Under federal statutes, no congressman can represent the government and at the same time take a case against the government. One late senator, Ralph Burton of Kansas, was clapped into jail for this. Congressmen Gene Cox of Georgia was recommended for criminal prosecution by Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge, but a kindly Attorney General (Francis Biddle) failed to prosecute. In New York,

TO QUIT GOP POST

AT A MEETING in Washington, D. C. Herbert Brownell, Jr., (above) told about thirty Republican congressional leaders that he will resign as chairman of the Republican National Committee on April 1. He said his purpose in retiring is to devote his entire time to his law practice in New York city.

Quill considers himself a law unto himself. Mayor O'Dwyer's brother happens to be a lawyer representing many left-wing labor groups, some accused of following the Communist party line. Mayor O'Dwyer himself is a bosom friend of Quill, who not only helped elect him but went to the West coast (twice on one trip under an assumed name) to urge O'Dwyer to run. O'Dwyer was given to accept the job later given to Donald Nelson as head of the Independent Motion Picture Producers Association.

Texas natural gas men are about the only people looking ahead regarding atomic energy. They are willing to sell gas cheap now because they figure atomic energy will put them out of business later.

John L. Lewis isn't looking that far ahead. His coal wages, now second highest in the country, if increased further are likely to convert more factories from coal to oil and natural gas.

Railroad Strike

President Truman last week declined to meet with representatives of operating railroad brotherhoods, whose wage-increase demands are now being arbitrated in Chicago. There was no publicity about it, but Truman sent a polite telegram to Bert M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees department of the AFL, and Harry W. Fraser, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, stating that it wouldn't be proper for him to meet with them.

Truman pointed out that it might appear he was taking sides if he talked to Jewell and Fraser during the arbitration proceedings, unless he met with management spokesmen. He informed the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and Alvan Johnston, chief of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers. They have refused to go along with other railway labor leaders in the negotiation of wage demands which threaten to paralyze rail transportation and throw more than 1,000,000 railway workers out of employment.

Whitney and Johnston bluntly informed Truman that their union would not agree to the arbitration formula approved by the other railroad brotherhoods, because it did not include negotiation of all disputes. It merely applied to wage demands.

Since the entire railroad industry will be paralyzed if the trainmen, represented by Whitney, and the engineers, represented by Johnston, strike, this leaves the president only one alternative: to appoint an emergency board to settle the demands of these two unions.

Big Three Portrait

Winston Churchill has been patiently posing for his portrait at the Miami Surf Club—a portrait which may become historic. Painted by Douglas Chandra, it will portray the Big Three at the Yalta conference. Chandra had finished the rough outline of Roosevelt before he died, but still has to put in Churchill and Stalin. The portrait may be placed in the capital. Says GOP Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, regarding the wife of the late Democratic president: "Mrs. Roosevelt did a finer job than any of us in cementing American international relations, at the same time protecting the interests of the United States." Among other things, Mrs. Roosevelt supported Senator Connally, of Texas, in defending the American Federation of Labor. . . . Housing czar Wilson Wyatt will soon half all non-essential building construction, including office buildings, warehouses, high-cost homes, night clubs, bowling alleys, and race tracks. . . . Congressman Gene Cox, of Georgia, considered a future on Capitol Hill since most newsmen can remember will face tough opposition this year. A war veteran, Marvin Griffin, may take him on.

Krug a Good Man For Interior Post, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—In appointing J. A. Krug to be secretary of the interior, President Truman has made one of the best possible selections. If Mr. Krug will follow this standard in making future appointments, he will enhance materially the prestige of his administration.

For "Cap" Krug, as he is known in Washington, is one of the ablest public officials the national capital has ever seen. Not only has he administrative skill, but he is fair-minded in making policies. He is known as a friend of public power programs, but he is not the kind to allow such policy leanings to influence him in the slightest in administering rules or regulations set by congress.

Mr. Krug, in other words, is a progressive and a liberal and has been classed as a New Dealer. But his fairness of approach clearly disassociates him from some of the types who used to occupy public office and under the cloak of public authority carried on private grudges and feuds.

When the War Production Board was torn with strife and there was all kinds of intrigue in the organization, "Cap" Krug came along and rapidly put the WPB in order, eliminating the trouble-makers and the plots and keeping attention focused on the important tasks of war production and the administration of rules and regulations.

The secretary of the interior in the government set-up of today has much to say about public power projects, especially in connection with the distribution of electric power out of the great dams of the Northwest. As an engineer and general manager of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Mr. Krug became familiar with all phases of the controversy between public utilities and governmental interests. One can feel assured that if public power gains in momentum, it will be only because Mr. Krug has not camouflaged his kind of intrigue in the organization in a crusade but because he has demonstrated persuasively what areas or projects can best be handled by government and what categories of power allocation can be handled by private interests.

Far West Interested

Mr. Truman has secured the services of a man who can accomplish much for his administration in the Far West. The department of the Interior is one of the agencies of government that interests the Far West, because of the problems of natural resources that have often arisen to plague Washington administrations. What the office needs, of course, is a man of integrity and vision as well as a good administrator. What it needs also is someone with modesty who can stay on the job and worry about the problems of government instead of comments on his ego.

The appointment is significant in many other respects. It means that President Truman, who made the selection himself, knows that the Democratic party's real purpose in public affairs must be to accept conservatism or stand-patism but to follow a liberal and progressive path. He knows also that mere radicalism or left-wing crusading is as bad in the other direction as any other form of reactionary thinking.

Mr. Krug represents that group of liberals who would like to improve the entire quality and calibre of the public service.

More of Type Needed

If Mr. Truman could find more men of the type of "Cap" Krug he would be able to raise the whole level of governmental service in the policy-making category. For in the administrative side, despite attacks often made on the nature of government operations, the personnel is fair-minded and efficient. It is in the realm of policy-making that troubles begin, causing confusion among the administrative personnel who are here through various administrative means.

The new secretary of the interior approaches public questions on the basis of the law and the facts and the limits of the authority given him, which is a proper basis for successful administration.

Officials Believe Home Breadbasket Will Be Sufficient

BY CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Despite President Truman's request that Americans share food with hungry Europe, Agriculture department officials feel no alarm for the home front breadbasket—if the buyers behave. Supplies will be ample to meet domestic needs and the nutritional values will be just as high as the present 3,300 calories.

The big question mark is the public's behavior. Consumers have plenty of money to buy scarce foods, as they had throughout the war. But now rationing controls are off. Consequently, when predicting the farm exports keep their fingers crossed, hoping that Mr. Truman's appeal will be taken to heart.

Unless this is done, they warn, and if the public should dash to the stores to stock up on meat, fats, sugar, butter, canned fruits and rice, supplies will not be enough to go around. They add that no one is going to suffer. There will be "favorable quantities" of fresh and frozen fish, citrus fruits, fresh and processed vegetables, potatoes, canned fruit juices, poultry and dairy products other than butter.

Big Price Control Battle

President Truman faces a tough fight in Congress over extension of the Price Control act which expires June 30. The battle will last weeks, possibly months.

A bill probably will be passed but not until April or May. And though the administration wants a straight one-year extension, the signs are that it will not get it.

It will almost certainly have to accept some concessions in current law, for the forces opposing the measure are powerful. They will seek to limit application of controls and to limit the duration.

They will fight to limit extension to six months and controls to about thirty-five basic commodities on which the Labor department bases its cost of living index. Despite Mr. Truman's many warnings against inflation, Congress intends to take its time and will face a whirlwind fight.

Filibustering Records

More about filibusters: The lengthiest one-man filibuster of recent days occurred in 1938, when Senator Allen Ellender, a former Huey Long lieutenant, spoke against an anti-lynching bill for six days. However, the Senate did not hold night sessions, and Ellender merely spoke four or five hours daily.

A filibuster in days gone by was something to prepare for with great care. Stacks of reading material were piled high on the senator's desk. All the necessary preparations were made in advance.

In 1914 the late Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, spoke for twelve hours, ten minutes, clad in a house coat and bedroom slippers, against the Rivers and Harbors bill. Filibusters have been known to wander the halls of the Senate. The late Senator Wesley Jones, of Washington, never recovered from his speech of thirteen hours, fifteen minutes against the Ship Registry bill in 1915. During the same filibuster, Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, spoke for eleven hours, thirty-five minutes.

Speeches of eight or nine hours were commonplace years ago. Senator Cie Crawford, of South Dakota, spoke nine hours, ten minutes when he conducted a two-day filibuster against seating William Lorimer, of Illinois, while Senator Wesley Jones contributed approximately eight hours to the same filibuster.

Old timers on Capitol Hill fear their likes will never be seen again. A filibuster by "Bob" La Follette or Huey Long once packed the Senate galleries. Today, a mere handful wanders for a few minutes, and then, bored by the proceedings, walks out.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chest bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly always the cough or you are to have your money back.

CREOMULSION for Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The clothing shortage is really getting bad out here. The only way you can get a suit these days is to run into a lawyer's car.

I went into a clothing store and said, "I'd like to see something with a herringbone." And the clerk brought out a herring!

I won't say the clothing shortage is desperate, but the other night a guy showed up at the Mocambo wearing a white tie and blanket.

And the picture companies don't have enough material for costumes. But they're getting around it. They took one of Edward Arnold's old vests and made eight suits for Sinatra.

And one company didn't have enough material for a costume for Betty Grable, and they were afraid they'd get complaints. But they finally got enough material for Betty's costume . . . and they got complaints. (But they ignored me).

And they're even skimping on the material in the sweaters those bobby sox girls wear. I saw one yesterday with a sweater that barely covered her ankles.

And W. C. Fields had some very bad luck. He managed to get four beautiful new polka-dot shirts. But then one morning he got up and breathed into his bureau drawer and all the polka-dots got bloodshot.

FHA Representative Is Coming Here Soon

A representative of the Federal Housing Administration will come to Cumberland within a few days to discuss the local housing situation with Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Smith wrote E. Lester Muller, manager of the FHA state office in Baltimore, at the request of chamber directors in an effort to have a representative of the agency visit Cumberland at least once a week to aid in obtaining priorities for building materials for veterans who wish to erect homes.

Trustees Are Named To Sell Former Home Of Ira Rosenbaum

The Second National Bank of Cumberland and Benjamin M. Kamen's, Cumberland, Tuesday were appointed trustees to sell the Washington street home of the late Ira Rosenbaum. The appointment was made by the judges of the circuit court and the trustees have filed a joint fidelity bond for $25,000 with the court.

Under the terms of Mr. Rosenbaum's will his widow was given the right to occupy the family home until her death or remarriage. Mrs. Rosenbaum has not exercised this right and the house at 726 Washington street has been occupied by Isaac Hirsch.

By the court decree, the trustees were given the discretion to sell the Rosenbaum home at either public or private sale. The approval of the price and terms of sale must be obtained from the court. The court did not set any minimum price for the property.

... And I See Millions of Others Are Switching to Riversides!

That's right! All over America, more and more people are putting Riversides on their cars. And it's important to remember that each and every one of those 40 million Riverside tires was a "replacement" sale... the careful choice of a person like yourself! (That couldn't have happened 40 million times without some very good reasons!) Think what this means to you. When you buy Riversides, you're buying a tire that millions of people before you have picked in preference to the brands that come on new cars... in preference to any other well-known make of tire! Yes! You get more for your money with Riversides... more wear... more safety, (Riversides are now even stronger than our pre-war tires!). Come into Wards today and "talk-it-over" with Wards tire man.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOVE IS THE SUM OF YOUR CHOICES

She's made a devastating discovery. She finds that she doesn't love her war marriage husband as much as she thought she did! That's enough to black out the stars for any 18-year-old bride—and many an older one too. Of course, they'd only known each other a month and were really married only two weeks, but she should be able to know whether love is the real thing after days and days of ecstasy like that. They'd been so happy it makes her shiver a little even yet, remembering. Yet

now that he's back from overseas, he seems all changed. So plain, so commonplace, just like any one of a thousand men. Sometimes she finds herself even snapping at him and a terror comes over her. Is this really the end of everything—of love—of romance—of all their moonlight dreams?

A young wife waking suddenly to discover that love isn't what she thought it would be—does that seem a trivial matter to you? It isn't trivial. It has always been one of life's toughest problems and in these post war years it is one of our cruelest and most widespread tragedies.

The trouble of course isn't with love itself. It's with our stupid misunderstanding of the nature of love.

We think of love as a special phenomenon which descends upon us willy nilly like a bolt of lightning or a dose of measles. But that isn't love. That may be infatuation—passion—a temporary flash of congenial companionship—but it isn't love.

LOVE ISN'T SOMETHING THAT HAPPENS—LOVE IS SOMETHING WE BUILD. Love is something we build by countless determined choices until, at long and loyal last, such choices become a beaten habit. What sort of choices? Simple, natural choices as to how we'll feel about this one whose trail we have chosen to share. There he stands. Yesterday he seemed to be more than human—so wise and tender, so brave and true and sensitive. Yesterday the beloved walked in the golden mist that lifted him above the earth, but a common person. Why, he's just a common person! He's just a common person and he does common things. He says the same things other people say. He's afraid of the same silly things. He gets mad over the same trifles. How can this be? How can a demigod change so suddenly from his superman status and become just a plain person? The answer is—he hasn't changed. Our viewpoint has changed—that's all. Yesterday, because Lois's war hero was new and novel, something outside her accustomed world, she saw him through rapturous eyes. She wanted to see him that way. She chose to see him that way. She chose to see only that which was most fascinating and exciting. Will she choose to see him as a commonplace mortal with uninspired thoughts and trivial gestures or will she look upon him with that special focus which only the eyes of love can know—will she see that nothing is quite ordinary if he says it... that there is special merit and skill in the little things he does?

West Side Electric Service Is Restored

Electric service was restored to affected sections of the West Side about 8:30 o'clock last night after a broken wire caused interruption of service for about three hours.

The interruption to service affected homes and business establishments from the Dingle traffic light to the 500 block George street and in the 700 block of Gephart drive, officials of the Potomac Edison Company said.

They added that the trouble was caused when a wire burned in half near a power pole on Washington street. They said the cause was unable to determine what caused the wire to burn.

Rent Control Office Gets Seventy-nine Eviction Requests

The OPA Rent Control office here has received seventy-nine requests this month for eviction of tenants, Caleb J. White, office manager, said yesterday. He added that most of the requests are from persons who have purchased houses and expect to occupy them personally.

In such cases, the tenant cannot be evicted for six months, except in cases where the purchaser is an ex-serviceman who can show hardship. Tenants can be evicted after three months in cases involving veterans.

One of the Celanese employees who signed up for the course is Thomas S. Seaber, 26, Cresaptown, who is now employed in the spinning department but who is taking a course in mechanical drafting.

When a photographer took a picture of Seaber conferring with Delaney the former serviceman said modestly "why don't you take a picture of some of these boys here who really saw hard service overseas. I didn't have it so tough."

Many Questions Asked

When Dr. McNally asked for questions from the group the men took him at his word and really laid down a barrage.

The men appeared to be especially interested in all the phases of "On the Job Training" and several inquired how their work could be tied in with apprentice training work given by their firms and by unions. Others inquired what would happen in the event they started the courses here and then moved somewhere else. And then, of course, many of the questions concerned details regarding just how the work is to be conducted at Fort Hill high school.

Dr. McNally, a former serviceman himself, answered the questions briskly and when he didn't know the answer referred the questioners to sources where they could find the answer. Most of the unanswered questions pertained to matters outside the scope of the school.

The men reacted favorably to Dr. McNally's frank efficiency and sense of humor and when the first session broke up moved in to question both Dr. McNally and Delaney at greater length.

Patterson Says

"That is a gratuitous insult," Tydings retorted.

"It wasn't gratuitous," Brewster responded with a grin.

A few minutes later Tydings and Brewster were in another verbal tangle, with the former declaring he would "not be suppressed as long as injustice rears its ugly head."

When the committee upheld Tydings' objections to further questioning of Ahrens, the senator declared that an effort had been made to practice "an outrageous, torture chamber, gestapo, Hitler-like method" of examination.

Brewster responded that he wanted the public to be assured that the "apparently illegal methods" he said had been used by Killian in soliciting donations would be brought to the attention of the Senate Campaign Expenditures committee.

Rankin, short, slender and slightly stooped, his long gray hair flopping up and down with his energetic gestures, never even slowed down for Sabath's shouted protests.

The upshot of it all was:

1. The protest was withdrawn by Rankin after Sabath finally got a chance to explain that he already had deleted the things to which Rankin objected.

2. The Republicans, overjoyed at this intramural feud among the Democrats, had a pleasant afternoon.

TWO CARS CRASH NEAR KEYSER: NO ONE IS INJURED

Three persons, two civilians and a soldier they had picked up along the road, escaped injury at 10 o'clock Tuesday night when the car in which they were riding failed to make a curve at Smith's garage, New Creek Drive, near Keyser. The car careened from the highway and turned over several times in a field.

The machine was demolished in the crash. The two men left the scene of the accident but the soldier remained near the car until Officer Edgell Rotruck of the Keyser police arrived. He said he did not know the names of the men but that they did say they were from Kitzmiller, Md. The machine had Maryland tags.

A little more than an hour afterwards, an Evening Times reporter helped to extricate a man and a woman from a car which crashed on the McCoolle-Westernport road, three miles north of Keyser.

The auto, a 1936 sedan, was traveling towards Keyser at a high rate of speed, according to the reporter, who was following it. The machine, he said, swerved from the right side of the road, crashed through a barbed wire fence on the opposite side and overturned. When the car finally came to rest on the driver's side, it was headed in the opposite direction.

The reporter who was returning from the Moorefield-Keyser high basketball game at Moorefield, said the driver of the wrecked auto was traveling at a normal rate of speed and then suddenly "opened it up." The car was badly damaged.

Neither the man, who was driving, nor the woman passenger was injured. The car bore West Virginia tags and police at Keyser and Westminster are investigating.

Shyness, a Painful Disease, Is Nearly Always Curable

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am 31 years old, and I'm lonesome. I would like to talk to girls and find a steady girl to go with, but something in me keeps me back. I don't know what's wrong. Maybe you could tell me.

F. J. G.
What's wrong with you, F. J. G., is a bad case of shyness. And while it's a painful disease, it's nearly always curable if you go at it the right way.

But you've got to work at it yourself. Nobody can wave a wand and pass a miracle and suddenly make you gay and talkative and popular without any trouble on your own part.

First thing for you to do is to look around and see what opportunities there are to meet nice girls. What organizations are there in your town that you could join? If there's a Y. M. C. A., join that and get acquainted with the other men who go there. Swim with them, bowl with them, work out in the gym with them, and presently you'll be sufficiently friendly with them so that they'll be inviting you to their homes where you'll meet their sisters and friends. Also, the "Y" undoubtedly gives parties to which girls are invited.

How about a lodge? That's a good place to make friends. Lodges give parties occasionally, too, to which members bring women relatives and friends. Do you go to any church regularly? If not, maybe you'd better begin! Almost every church has different clubs and other organized groups that bring men and women together.

But whatever you join, take an active part in it. Let them know you'll be a worker in the group. And as you become familiar with its members, the first thing you know, you'll forget about being shy, and start having a good time. After that, you'll be surprised how easy everything gets!

More Leeway Now

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am a girl of 16, a junior in high school.

There is a very nice respectable boy that I would like to invite to a hayride, but don't know how to go about it, as I have never been introduced to him.

Would it be wrong for me to ask him? If not, how should I go about it?

F. M.
If this boy is one of your school-mates, isn't there someone you both know who could introduce you? Or if he's just one of the boys in town, perhaps you have a mutual friend who could bring about a meeting. Do your mothers, by any chance, know each other?

If none of the conventional ways of making his acquaintance seem to be possible, I think it would be quite all right for you to write him a little note, telling him that a group of you are going on a hayride and would like him to join you. After all, there's much more leeway in such things these days than there used to be, and it's not considered out of the way for a girl to be the one to issue an invitation to a boy occasionally.

She Spends Lonely Evenings
Dear Miss Fairfax:
I have been married twelve years and have two little girls, the oldest 9 and the other 6.

For a long time we have been a very happy family, but about a year ago things began to be different

and my husband seemed to lose interest in doing things with his family. He just wanted to go out by himself, bowl with his friends, he said, and now lately he doesn't tell me where he goes. It is very lonesome just staying home by myself with the children most nights, Miss

Fairfax, and I am very unhappy. What should I do?

UNHAPPY WIFE
You don't say whether or not you have ever tried to talk this over with your husband. If you were happy together for so much of the time that you have been married, those years must have built up between you a certain amount of real understanding and confidence. All that can't have disappeared at once. So don't give this thing a chance to build itself up any longer before making an opportunity to try and find out what is wrong. Since you and your husband were once so close, perhaps, if you are very tactful, you can get him to talk frankly with you. Try not to let your talk turn into a quarrel that will only make the situation up more. Perhaps you'll find it's just that you've wanted to stay home with the children too many nights instead of going out for good times with him. At any rate, if you can discover definitely what is at the bottom of the trouble, you'll be in a better position to know what you can do about it.

The high level of business that prevailed during the war years continued during 1945, the volume being the third largest in the Company's history, and exceeded only in 1943 and 1944.

Costs of operation constantly increased due to higher costs of labor and higher costs of materials. Operating revenues of the Company declined $73,562,501, caused by the cessation of hostilities and labor disturbances in some of the larger industries. Expenses of operation increased $47,628,686, including $41,395,479 to cover the unamortized portion of the cost of emergency facilities required for the prosecution of the war. The Net Income in 1945 was $49,008,238 compared with $64,720,431 in 1944, a decrease of $15,712,193. Notwithstanding this decrease in Net Income, dividends paid in 1945 were maintained at the same rate paid in 1944, 1943 and 1942—5% ($2.50 per share).

TRANSPORTATION FOR THE FUTURE

The country's vast system of airways, highways and waterways will be expanded at the Government's expense, while all of the improvements for the railroads will be privately financed. The problems with which the railroads are faced as a result of the war should have intelligent consideration by state and national authorities wherever regulation restricts the opportunity for the rails to move forward.

The railroads want no subsidy; they want equity. They are a heavily taxed industry competing with subsidized industries, and all they ask is equality of opportunity.

As the railroads planned to meet the requirements of war, so they are planning for the opportunities of peace, and given a fair and equitable chance they will furnish the public the best in freight and passenger service.

TAXES

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company during the war years paid in taxes and disbursed for improvements and repairs, to meet the war load a sum of money equal to the entire debt upon the property. A national railroad system without any debt would place the railroads in the same position as their competitors, as the Government furnishes a large amount of the capital for the waterways, the highways and the airways.

There was much deferred maintenance during the war period. The Interstate Commerce Commission gave the railroads authority to create reserves to meet this situation. The taxation system, however, would not permit them to take any tax benefit on reserves so created, and money that should have been set aside for this purpose was taxed the same as other income. Deferred maintenance, therefore, was paid out of post-war earnings, and the more the post-war earnings are siphoned off through taxation, the less will be the money the railroads can spend on rehabilitation and improvements.

Railway taxes, after adjustment by tax credits of $24,443,381 for prior war years, together with Unemployment Insurance

taxes of $12,741,141, and Railroad Retirement taxes of $13,802,891, aggregated $34,340,013.

LEGISLATION

To clarify the intent of Congress with respect to carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, and to resolve any regulatory conflicts with the Antitrust laws, Congressman Bulwinkle of North Carolina introduced a bill, H. R. 2536, known as the Bulwinkle Bill, which gives such carriers protection from the Antitrust laws only to the extent that their acts and procedures have obtained prior Commission approval. The Bill was endorsed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and numerous state commissions, and by public and commercial bodies and by shippers and producers generally. It was passed by the House by a large majority and now awaits action by the Senate.

To insure consistent policies with respect to legislation, and the future efficiency of the transportation system, the Bill is worthy of the earnest support of the people, who have recently seen the vital importance to the nation of the ability of the carriers to work together in the public interest.

FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES

The railroads have done the war job with practically no increase in freight rates and a relatively small increase in passenger fares—2.10 of a cent per mile in basic coach fares and 3.10 of a cent per mile in fares good in Pullman cars.

The year 1946 will be one of greatly increased cost of operation and maintenance with a decreasing business, and it is therefore imperative to consider the need for increased railroad freight rates.

The railroads were granted a 5% increase in freight rates, in May, 1942, which however was suspended until six months after the war, but, as the situation appears to be developing, it will be necessary for the railroads to petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase greater than that under suspension, in order to meet greatly increased expenses and avoid deficit operation.

Large expenditures must be made for the rehabilitation of the railroads. All of these necessities will require money in large amounts. Money requires credit, and the credit of the Company is very much affected by the rates at which the business is carried.

Maturities during the year amounted to $11,807,880, which together with other debt retired and canceled amounting to $9,382,000, made a total reduction of $21,189,880 in 1945. This reduction was offset, in part, by the issuance of $16,290,000 Equipment Trust Obligations.

In addition, as a result of refinancing of bonds and purchases from the public, other debt of System Companies was reduced $5,380,087.

The debt of the System in the hands of the public was, therefore, reduced $10,279,967 in 1945, making a net reduction of $148,670,000 during the last six years.

REFINANCING OF BONDS

The Company continued its policy of taking advantage of the prevailing money rates to refinance certain of its bonds, as well as those of its affiliated companies, and was able to make some very advantageous refundings, from which it will ultimately realize approximately $47,000,000 of savings.

EQUIPMENT

The ending of the war made it possible to acquire materials for construction of passenger cars, and there are under construction one hundred and twelve modern passenger train cars, of lightweight construction, of which ninety are being built in Altoona Shops, and twenty-two by an outside builder. They are the finest type ever to be built for the Company, and are especially designed for safety.

Since the close of the year, orders have been placed with outside builders for the construction of two hundred and fourteen passenger train cars of which one hundred and fifty-nine are to be sleepers, for the improvement of the post-war passenger service on the railroad.

Twenty-five of the largest and most modern steam freight locomotives and tenders were placed in service during the year. Orders were placed for fifty additional steam passenger locomotives and tenders and part of the order was delivered. One Diesel electric passenger locomotive was delivered during the year, and ten more were ordered.

On December 18, 1945, the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania approved the sale by Pullman Incorporated to a Buying Group of Railroads of all the outstanding stock of its wholly owned subsidiary, The Pullman Company, which owns and services the sleeping cars.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, as one of the railroads in the Buying Group, has purchased from The Pullman Company 142 lightweight sleeping cars assigned for service on its lines, as well as 125 regularly assigned parlor cars.

RESEARCH

The Company, always seeking through research in science and technology, through discovery and invention, to be in the forefront of progressive improvement in railroad travel and shipping, has continued to move forward during the year. Through its own research staff, through the research laboratories of the Association of American Railroads, and cooperatively with equipment manufacturers, the Company is alert in utilizing to the utmost improvements in the field of electronics, metallurgy, chemistry and engineering, which can be applied to increase the efficiency, comfort and safety of rail transportation.

EMPLOYEES

As we come out of the war and enter the peace, it is a pleasure to acknowledge the efficiency and loyalty of the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad and their devotion to duty.

From the low ebb of the depression in 1938, with a depleted force, the Company moved into the heavy traffic of the war, met the peak load of its history, both passenger and freight, and is moving into the reconversion era. The Management wishes to acknowledge the splendid way the employees served their Country and the Company by meeting successfully every emergency they were called upon to face.

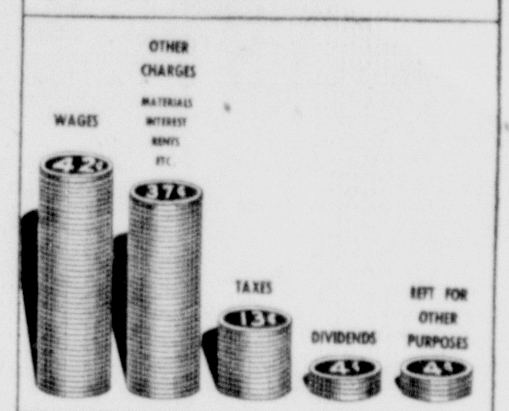

STOCKHOLDERS

The growth and expansion of the Company during the one hundred years of its existence is reflected in the number of shareholders, the shares outstanding and their distribution. When the Company was chartered there were 2,635 subscribers to the original issue of 60,257 shares of stock of the par value of $50 each, being an average holding of 22.87 shares by each subscriber.

On December 31, 1945, there were 214,995 holders of stock, and the number of shares outstanding had grown to 13,167,754. The average holding was 61.24 shares.

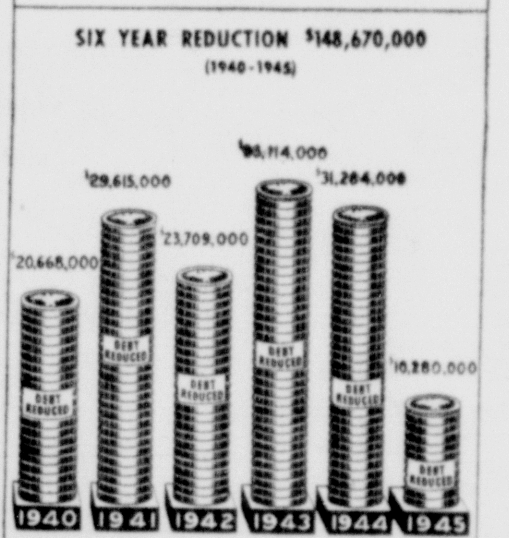

M. W. CLEMENT, President.

WHERE THE DOLLAR WENT WAR YEARS 1941-1945

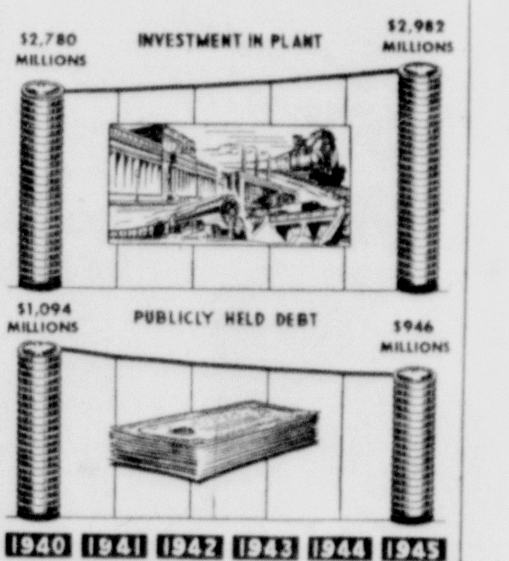

After providing for operating expenses, interest, rentals and other necessary charges, over half the remaining income went to taxes.

NET REDUCTION IN SYSTEM DEBT IN HANDS OF PUBLIC

There has been a steady and substantial reduction of funded debt in the hands of the public, as this graph shows. Over the last six years The Pennsylvania Railroad System debt has been reduced $148,670,000.

INCREASING EQUITY OF STOCKHOLDERS PRR SYSTEM

This chart shows how the property investment in the railroad system has steadily grown while publicly held debt has decreased. The money put back into the railroad not only has increased the stockholder's equity but has brought the total investment to a point where it is equal to more than $17,000 per employee.

A BRIEF HISTORY of the railroad's growth and development over the hundred years since its founding April 13, 1846, is included in the Annual Report sent to stockholders. Copies of it may be had by writing Office of the Secretary, Broad Street Station Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

Floyd Frizzell, center of the Central high school Tigers, of Lonaconing, captured individual high scoring honors in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League for the 1946 season by meshing a total of ninety-eight points in ten games.

The Orange and Black ace not only topped the circuit in total points but he also racked up eleven baskets for the greatest number of field goals in a single game.

Runner-up honors went to Dick Price, of Bruce, who gathered ninety-two points while Charley Galt, of Beall high, was third with ninety-one tallies.

Tom Warnick, Barton guard, was the league's No. 1 foul shooter. He converted 23 out of 36 free throws for an average of .639. Bill Parry, of Beall, was second with a mark of .625. He hooped 20 of 32 tries at the charity line.

Fort Hill was the only team in the circuit to get a shut out. The Sentinels sent 81 out of 158 shots spinning through the cords for an average of .513.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Manager Mel Ott, of the New York Giants, disclosed today that when Walker Cooper, pitcher, purchased from the St. Louis Cardinals for $175,000 early last month, is released from the army April 2, he will join the club but will go to Jacksonville, Fla., and do his training with the Jersey City farm club.

The Little Giants will remain in the south after the parent club has headed north on an exhibition junket, beginning April 2.

Secretary's Play Will Be Offered On Radio Network

By JEAN MEEGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The second installment on the "Carrington Playhouse," Mutual's new series which is supposed to give new writers a change, is "Wait for Me," written by Adele Horton, a 22-year-old secretary in a New York bank. It's the girl's first script and she's not going to leave the bank over it. "I'm afraid I couldn't write enough to eat regularly," she candidly announced when Mrs. Carrington bought her script. The show is Thursday night.

Jerry Colonna, who has been in the stogie class for years, has blossomed out in the last few months as a guest star. Bing Crosby will have him on "The Music Hall" at 9 Thursday night. Frank Morgan won't be on the show.

Dinah Shore has Ozdie Nelson and Harriet Hillard as guests on her 8:30 NBC session.

Five of the speakers on "America's Town Meeting" Thursday are: Dr. Karl Bigelow, professor of education, Teachers college, Columbia university; Dr. William H. Lemm, superintendent of schools in Wilmington, Del.; Maynard M. Borling, former trustee of the Scotia Board of Education; Mrs. Eleanor Gimbel, of United Parents Organization; and Mrs. Mary Titus, health educator of Cammack Junior high school, Huntington, Va.

The question is: "How Can We

Beer Production Faces Sharp Cut, Brewers Say

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The nation will have less beer to drink in 1946 than at any period during the war if the government reduces this year's grain quota for use in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages by an indicated thirty per cent, leading brewers in the New York area predicted today.

The industry is deeply concerned over the present situation. An official of one of the larger breweries said: "We had expected the green light beginning next month when our new production quarter for malt used in beer starts, x x x."

A seasonal upswing in consumption generally gets under way in March and reaches its peak around August just when the full impact of the lower grain quotas would hit the industry the hardest."

Conservation Meeting

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Baltimore county conservation district and county extension service will hold an all-day conservation meeting tomorrow.

Principal speakers include Extension Director Dr. T. B. Symons, State Game Warden Ernest Vaughan, State Forester Joseph

Kaylor and Extension Conservationist John Cotton.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lewis F. Tasker, who passed away one year ago, February 27, 1945.

Memories grip my heart,
Making me drop in tears,
There is a vacant chair,
No more after hair—no Father.

Hush, my heart be still,
God is with us still,
Up in glory bright,
Shining as a light—we see Father.

AND FAMILY.

In loving memory of Daniel Lipson, who died 4 years ago, February 28, 1941.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near,
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of passing without farewell.

Our love cannot tell how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what he did,
God alone knows how we miss him,
In our unknown home today.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he is soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade,
Leaving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his parents,
MR. AND MRS. M. J. LIPSON.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to our friends and relatives, who were so kind to us in our recent bereavement in the death of Mrs. Anna E. Frye. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.

MARY LOUISE PARKER

Miss Mary Louise Parker, 16, Cumberland, died this morning at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore.

Contrary to complaints of some realtors that rent control is unfair to landlords because it has held rent increases to four per cent during the war period, landlords generally throughout the country have shown substantial increases in their net operating incomes under rent control, officials said.

Surveys Cited

Recent OPA survey shows that landlords' net operating income, which is the income derived from rental properties after all expenses except interest and depreciation have been deducted, is running thirty-three per cent above the 1939 level on apartment houses and thirty-nine per cent greater than in 1939 on small structures, it was stated.

Before a landlord may legally raise a ceiling rent, he is required in all cases to apply to his area rent office for an increase and to secure an order approving the rent adjustment before collecting the new rent. Forms for rent adjustment applications are available at the local rent office.

Grounds for Increases Listed

The following were listed by OPA rent officials as some of the grounds on which a landlord may petition for an increase in rental:

1-Substantial alterations to the housing unit by a major capital improvement. (Major capital improvement is defined as a rent increase may be sought including structural additions as that of a room, installation of plumbing, heating or electricity which the unit formerly lacked; improvements such as modernization of a bathroom or kitchen; and general reconstruction and redecoration that would place the unit in a higher rental range.)

2-Substantial increases in services or furnishings.

3-If rents were substantially lower than comparable rents in the area on the maximum rent date because they were based then on special or personal relationships between the tenant and the landlord.

4-If the rental unit was temporarily exempt from real estate taxes on the maximum rent date and the landlord passed along the benefit of the tax exemption to the tenant in the form of lower rents.

5-If the rent on the maximum rent date was below comparable rents in the area due to a peculiar circumstance.

Rental increases are also permitted in other circumstances which occur less frequently. Landlords should consult their area office for further information about these.

Veterans Who Enroll for Night Classes Here "Mean Business"

Officers in charge of the initial meeting of fifty former servicemen who started courses of instruction last night at Port Hill high school voiced the opinion that these men "mean business" after explaining the work and hearing the questions asked by the students.

Dr. Harold J. McNally, director of the course being given under the auspices of the board of education, and Leo Delaney, Central high school mathematics and science teacher, outlined the courses for the men and gave out materials to be used.

Delaney, former lieutenant colonel in the army, will act as supervisor of the group which will meet two nights a week. However, this initial group will probably be split up into two sections as the director feels that the men should receive plenty of personalized instruction.

Electronics Popular

The largest single group taking any one course consists of eight former soldiers who are enrolled in the electronics course. These men are;

Local Man Held Under $500 Bond On Gaming Charge

Cameron Will Receive Circuit Court Hearing Tuesday Morning

Charles Cameron, this city, posted $500 bond yesterday afternoon before Chief Judge William A. Huster for a hearing in circuit court Tuesday, March 5, at 9 a. m. on a charge of bookmaking at 208 Virginia avenue.

Cameron was arrested about 2 p. m. yesterday when Lt. James E. Van, Detective L. R. Frank Gaffney and Detectives Edwin R. Litya and Thomas J. See raided the place and the authority of a search and seizure warrant Judge Huster said he issued Monday.

The officers said no betting was in progress when they entered the establishment but that eight or ten persons were in the upstairs room of the building looking through racing forms.

Evidence Is Held

Material the officers said was used in the operation of a bookmaking establishment seized by police and is being held in police headquarters as evidence.

Among the articles seized, police said, was a ticker service machine equipped with a projector, racing forms and betting tickets police estimated to number almost 10,000. Police said all evidence in the place except the telephone is being held.

The ticker machine, authorities said, was in the back room of the upper story of the building and was not in operation at the time the place was staged. The machine, they added, was set up ready for operation.

Operates Store

One detective explained that the first story of the building is operated as a cigar store by Cameron. He added that merchandise displayed there was not worth more than $50.

Police explained that the ticker machine results are evidently projected from the tape by a projector which throws the results upon several large mirrors set in the ceiling of the place.

Has Been Watched

Police said the establishment has been under surveillance for some time.

James Orr, police and fire commissioner, declined to comment on the raid and Morgan C. Harris, State's attorney, reported he knew nothing of the plans for the search of the place.

The raid came at post time for Hialeah park in Florida, reported to be the most popular track among local racing fans at present.

Cameron, along with Raymond Goss and James Linn, both of Baltimore street, and Leo Miller and Harry Little, both of North Mechanic street, was arrested by city police July 30, 1945. Each of the men was charged with charges of maintaining bookmaking establishments.

Goss, Linn, Miller and Little were also arrested on similar charges June 30, 1945. Cameron had previously been arrested on the same charge on July 2, 1945.

Little Orleans Man Is Fined on Game Law Violation

Arrested Sunday afternoon on a charge of hunting and pursuing wild turkey on Sunday, Albert Potts, Little Orleans, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Frank A. Perdue.

Potts, deaf and in the opinion of Magistrate Perdue, "drinking a little" at the time of the trial, was charged with hunting wild turkey out of season.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said he and three deputies spotted Potts in the woods Sunday afternoon and with the aid of field glasses discovered he was carrying a rifle.

Rifle Was Loaded

When the game warden finally caught up with Potts he was carrying a loaded rifle and was holding a twenty-two caliber repeating rifle.

Magistrate Perdue said Potts admitted following turkeys and that one flew away and he did not shoot at it. He told the magistrate he was hunting turkeys in that section inasmuch as there had been six but now there were only five.

The deputies and Magistrate Perdue had trouble making Potts understand that he was being arrested at the hearing but when it was finally explained to him that he had been found guilty and would be fined, Potts replied, "When a man can't go out on his own place on Sunday with a little twenty-two rifle, why it's terrible. It ain't justice."

Unable To Pay Fine

Potts, who told Magistrate Perdue he owned 700 acres of land and rented 500, said he was unable to pay the $10 fine and was given until March 15 to bring in the money. He was advised authorities would be sent after him if he did not report. Minke told Potts the fine and would hold it until the fine is paid.

As Potts left the court room he invited the deputies "down to my place" where he said he would "take you on one at a time" even though he is an "old man."

15 Tons of Paper Collected in Drive

Easter Sunrise Service Will Be Held in Stadium

Preliminary Plans Are Made at Meeting of Bible Class Committee

Preliminary plans have been made for an Easter sunrise service to be held at Fort Hill stadium at approximately 6 a. m. April 21, according to A. Florian Wilson, chairman of the committee of the Duke Memorial Bible class which is sponsoring the service.

Wilson, who presided at a meeting of the committee at Central YMCA yesterday evening, said that persons of all faiths will be invited to attend the service, and that letters of invitation will be sent to all Cumberland ministers so that pulpits announcements may be made.

The Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed church, and the Rev. Edgar S. Price, pastor of Second Baptist church, represent the Cumberland Ministerial Association and the South Cumberland Ministerial Association, respectively, on the committee.

At yesterday's meeting they were asked to invite three ministers to give the invocation, sermon and benediction respectively, at the sunrise service.

Harry Jamison, song leader for the Bible class, was appointed leader for the service. Wilson said arrangements will be made to obtain as many sinners as possible from church choirs in the city to form a chorus for the service.

Oscar Bergstrom, associate secretary of Central YMCA and a member of the committee, will take charge of the ushers. Members of the Port Hill and Allegany H-Y associations will be named as ushers.

Arrangements will be made to provide printed programs, which will include special hymns and the order of service.

Besides Wilson, Bergstrom and the two members of the committee are Calvin Ketter, Charles Wiebel, Lloyd Rawlings, who acted as secretary at the meeting; E. H. Bender, A. Y. Wilson, and J. W. McKee.

Wilson said he will call another meeting within a few weeks to complete arrangements for the service.

115th Infantry Command May Go To Millholland

When the Twenty-ninth division is reorganized as a national guard unit Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, Jr., may be new commander of the One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry.

According to Lt. Col. Littlefield, Jr., who is in charge of the division, the Twenty-ninth division is being reorganized as a national guard unit. The division is being reorganized as a national guard unit. The division is being reorganized as a national guard unit.

Others mentioned as eligible for the post are Lt. Col. Frederick M. Hopkins, former commander of Company I and Lt. Col. Littlefield, Jr., former second lieutenant in Company L. Millholland commanded Company G when the national guard was called into service in 1941.

According to Gen. Reckord, no full colonels are in line for the One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry post. Sixteen others who have served with the Twenty-ninth are listed as possibilities for key positions in the reorganization.

Earlier the War department listed unit allocations with a personnel totaling 8,426 officers and men that have been submitted to Gov. O'Connor as a tentative table of organization for the new Blue and Gray.

Under the plan, the Twenty-ninth will be composed of men from Maryland and Virginia only, rather than the two states and Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

Division headquarters, the War department said, will be divided into two parts. Under the plan, Maryland will receive the One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry made up of personnel from the counties under the prior guard setup, and the One Hundred and Seventy-fifth Infantry, which originally was designated as Maryland's Fifth but which will hold its World War II number under the reorganization.

Gen. Reckord, who emphasized that the tentative plan has not been acted upon in the absence of Gov. O'Connor, said that the allocation and strength of the new national guard is based upon the assumption that universal military training will be enacted and will be tied up with the guard.

Burkett's Print Is Prize Winner

Edward Burkett's camera study entitled "Hey, Butch!" last night was awarded first prize in the monthly black and white contest of the Cumberland Camera Club.

Other winners announced by Sam Dooley, judge at the monthly meeting of the organization at the Knights of Malta Hall were: Richard Stitzer, "The Farmer Takes A Wife"; John R. King, "On Schedule"; Burkett's "The Concert"; and Mrs. Dorothy Willson's picture "For Those In Peril of the Sea."

Nineteen prints were submitted to Dooley for judging. Next month J. C. Warden will serve as judge of the print contest.

It was announced last night that the club will conduct a clinic the night of the meeting next month, with the clinic being held from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Members of the public including high school students who are "beginners" in photography are invited to attend the clinic when the date is announced at the Knights of Malta Hall. John R. King, veteran camera photographer, will conduct the initial clinic next month but the job will be passed around to various members of the club from month to month.

Women Workers Discuss Plans For Red Cross Campaign Here

Initial Meeting of Group Held; Activities of Organization Outlined

Members of the Women's Division in the forthcoming Red Cross campaign, whose staunch support substantially aided in achieving Red Cross quotas during the trying war years, yesterday held their initial organization meeting in the city hall auditorium where they made plans for their first peacetime solicitation since 1941. Mrs. Jim McQuown, chairman of the division, presided.

When introduced by Mrs. McQuown, Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary of the Red Cross, praised the workers, a majority of whom are veterans for their loyal support in past years and remarked, "when you keep coming back each year it shows that you must be sold on the Red Cross."

While Mrs. Witherup remarked that this year's drive will be a fund campaign and not a war fund campaign, the executive secretary said that workers should remember that a majority of the soldiers now overseas are young boys who really need guidance and aid of the Red Cross. Mrs. Witherup also reminded the workers that while the fighting is done, "the war is not over for our soldiers in hospitals and we must carry on."

Red Cross Praised

Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, campaign chairman, told the members of the division that from 1942 until four months ago he was overseas and had ample opportunity to see what Red Cross was doing for servicemen. The former Twenty-ninth division leader declared that the Red Cross is to be congratulated for the work it has done for our soldiers in hospitals and we must carry on.

Millholland recalled that soldiers were most fortunate in having had the Red Cross in England where they paid a nominal sum of one shilling six pence (thirty cents) for a night's lodging. At that time it was practically impossible to find lodgings in London, he recalled, and he was in a British restaurant added up to around $4.

To the soldiers overseas, a trip to the nearest Red Cross establishment was actually "a little trip home," Millholland said.

Commenting on this year's drive to raise $30,500, Lt. Col. Millholland said "the boys overseas now will get a larger chunk of what we collect this year" and added that "nothing is so important to men overseas as the Red Cross."

Mrs. Robert Henderson, a veteran worker for the American Red Cross for twenty-eight years, was introduced by Mrs. McQuown and told the group "I have worked twenty-eight years for the Red Cross and I have never heard one word against the Red Cross."

Mrs. Mangus Work, who will be in charge of the campaign office this year, was also introduced to the workers.

Kickoff Dinner Monday

Mrs. Witherup, in supplying the workers with pertinent information regarding Red Cross activities, stated that field directors overseas were now very active in tracing missing persons and this work requires maintenance. The secretary also reported that large surpluses of blood plasma are now being turned back to health departments and physicians for civilian use and that this surplus blood is being turned back with the understanding that it is not for sale.

It was announced yesterday that reservations for the kickoff dinner of the campaign Monday, at 6:30 o'clock at the Central YMCA, must be made by Friday. Workers will be told to their captains and chairman will send in the names to headquarters.

It was also announced that women who would like to support this year's drive have not as yet been approached are being invited to call Red Cross headquarters (Tel. 4181) if they would care to work in the campaign.

The women's division headed by Mrs. McQuown will solicit residents, beauty parlors, small groceries and neighborhood drug stores, it was announced.

It was also revealed yesterday that employees at the Kelly-Springfield Company plant are now being given Red Cross cards.

Latest Theft Case Cleared by Police

Police reported last evening the prompt clearing of the latest of a series of breaking and entering cases here recently.

The home of Pluma Powell, Tuesday avenue, was entered Tuesday night by a burglar who took about $7. In cash was taken, police were told. Police said the culprit, a minor, was apprehended that same night. A Great Dane dog owned by the local woman made no attempt to prevent the intruder from entering the home, police added.

One Person Killed and Nine Injured in Twelve Traffic Accidents in Allegany County in January

Of the thirty-nine persons killed during the month, twenty-one were pedestrians, ten others met death when their cars collided with each other; six others when their cars either ran into a fixed object or upset on the highway; and two were killed when their cars collided with railroad trains.

Two counties, Kent and Calvert, had clean records with no accidents reported.

The commission pointed out that immediately after the end of gasoline rationing last summer, accidents, deaths and injuries started to increase.

The commission said that it, Gov. O'Connor and co-operating agencies and individuals interested in traffic safety urge all citizens of Maryland to try to understand the meaning of traffic safety, and remember the survival of the fit has been very largely the survival of the safe.

Contract Signed With VA by Kopp For Trades School

Plans Will Be Speeded for Beginning Classes, Superintendent Says

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, yesterday signed a contract with the Veterans Administration in Baltimore whereby a countywide trades school for veterans will be created.

Kopp announced that the administration in Baltimore has approved the proposed setup in Allegany county and that the contract has been forwarded to Washington for final approval by General Bradley's office.

While the approval by the national headquarters of the Veterans Administration is regarded as a technicality, Kopp estimated that it would require at least a week before the contract is approved and returned.

With the contract signed, Kopp said that preparations for opening of the proposed trades school will be given the "full speed ahead" signal and added "we have no intention of asking Paul N. Alexander, who has tentatively accepted the position as director of the school, to attend a conference today at the board of education office."

Working out of the contract which has been approved was greatly aided by the work of H. M. James, executive director of vocational education for the state department of education who worked in conjunction with the Veterans Administration in Washington.

The first draft for the proposed school was submitted to the Veterans Administration. Kopp and James then submitted a second proposal in which salaries were modified and the scope of the proposed course was broadened. This last proposal was approved by the Veterans Administration.

Mrs. Bertha B. Proctor, negro, consumer liaison representative of the Baltimore district office of the Office of Price Administration, will address a meeting at Carver high school Monday evening, March 4, under the auspices of the Carver Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Ruth Shaffer Jones, chief clerk of the Price Control board here, said yesterday.

A graduate of Morgan college, Baltimore, Mrs. Proctor is president of the Ladies' auxiliary of the college; vice president of the board for Cheltenham School for Boys; a member of the board of the Urban League; member of the executive committee of the Welfare department, Council of Social Agencies; member of the executive committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; a member of the Baltimore Civic League; program chairman for the League of Women's Clubs; a member of Bethel church and a teacher in the Ladies' Bible class.

They have two sons recently returned from service in the European theater of operations. Sgt. William H. Proctor, Jr., is now an instructor at Morgan college, and Capt. Nathaniel Proctor is working with the Carnegie Research of Embryology. Both sons have master's degrees from the University of Pennsylvania.

Representatives of the Trades council will meet with the state executive board in another session in the Port Cumberland hotel at 7 p. m. today. Further plans for the spring convention will be made at the evening session.

Cumberland was host to the state AFL convention in 1943 and 1944 and the group wished to hold last year's meeting here after wartime travel restrictions were dropped.

Plans for the annual meeting were dropped, however, when AFL officials were unable to secure sufficient accommodations in local hotels.
